Golden Gates Swing Open

Sister Ruthie Craig died in great agony the other day in a small, hot, crowded room of her shabby little house at New Hope, Ala., her right arm swollen to elephantine size, and her lips chewed to bloody froth in her agony and delirium.

Sister Craig, a good, unlettered, kindly, back-country woman in her 40's, lived only two hours after a rattlesnake she twice had picked up in a ceremony of worship of her Holiness sect faith, had bitten her a number of times. She didn't know about picking rattlers up with a quick grab just back of the head so they can't turn back and bite. At the moment she was filled with a sort of ecstasy until it seemed to her the spirit of God was welling up in her and calling on her to prove her faith.

Even when she was dying and someone asked her if she wanted a doctor, and she had replied "anything," she stopped the messenger when another one of the faithful cried out it would show a lack of faith. So, she died in great agony, saying her Saviour had suffered for her. As far as I am concerned, I believe the golden gates swung wide open for poor Ruthie Craig. She had faith, perverted though it was. But I am sure the keeper of the records had a black, angry look on his face when he ordered the gates opened wide for Sister Craig.

Christianity

I fret a lot about people such as Sister Craig. We all are poor seekers and understanding is difficult to come by because understanding is something a person must somehow acquire before it can be required of him.

I used to think that Sister Craig and the snake handlers were a separate religious sect. In a sense they are, but it is a limited one. For too many persons Christianity is merely a great, gleaming cloud high in the heavens or beckoning yonder on the shining horizon, the great truths of which never touch their drab everyday lives. When the right of the individual to approach God directly through His word and teachings as revealed in Holy Writ was proclaimed and established, it is too bad the gift of understanding could not have been given with it.

As things are, all of us are like Sister Craig in that we are trying to build a bridge for our souls to cross over the deep, dark abyss. But, too often that bridge is merely a frail line or so of misunderstood Scripture such as Mark 16:18 where it says the faithful shall take up serpents and no poisonous drink shall harm them. Verses 9 to 20 of the 16th chapter are not found in the oldest known manuscripts of Mark's work. Other authorities also have a different ending for this Gospel, and the St. James translators were dubious but used it.

But, for Sister Craig and others it is a bridge, flimsy though it be, across which to escape from a drab, barren existence into a brief, glittering glory.

Symbol

The snake is a familiar figure in man's history. It was the symbol of sex in primitive religions and in modern Freud. It was the symbol of the devil's messenger in the Genesis story of the Garden, and is present in Greek, Hindu and other Eastern and oriental mythologies and religion.

When Sister Craig, a good motherly woman, kind to children and a hard worker in a harsh, uncompromising, monotonous, unpromising world, attained enough faith to reach down for that snake, she achieved a great victory over life and its fears. She had conquered for a moment fear of death, fear of evil, and fear of self. In that one great moment when she reached, was bitten, dropped the snake and reached again, she had also attained a simultaneous, tangible, oneness of the body and soul. Some with more understanding attain sublimation from music, art, liquor, love, poetry or great moving sermons and yet die in pain.

But, for a person in a shabby, dreary house, with a sense of guilt toward sinful pleasures, no hope of material comfort, no understanding of the written word and little of the spoken, the moment of reaching for the snake must be a bright, shimmering, ecstatic moment when the world falls away and the great cloud of warm shining glory envelops all.

I used to think the articulate church had somehow to reach them with religion. Now I know it can't. I note that there are never snake handling cults in poor, isolated regions where a school exists and man is given some degree of understanding—which he must have before it may be required of him. I believe the gates swung open for Ruthie Craig.

Truman Says Crisis Calls For Speedup

Expects Need for More Troops, Stresses Rearming Agenda

By CHARLES E. EGAN
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, July 23—President Truman Monday told Congress that it may be necessary to increase the armed forces of the United States beyond the present goal of 3,500,000.

The President said that the heads of the armed services have not as yet reached a decision on the point. He added that if they believe a greater force is necessary "in the light of world events," he will ask Congress for the additional funds. The armed forces are now only about 300,000 short of the 3,500,000 goal.

In a message transmitting to Congress the mid-year report of his council of economic advisers, the President took the occasion to press for "full speed ahead" on the rearmament program, regardless of Korean peace prospects. He also hit out at "extremists" who would abandon the economic controls program entirely "or shoot it full of holes."

In the message, Mr. Truman renewed many previous requests. He asked again for a strong controls measure, tight curbs on consumer credit, authority to build defense plants which private interests cannot or will not undertake, authority to proceed with the St. Lawrence seaway and power projects and for "effective" rent controls.

The President has been rebuffed by Congress on many of the points he emphasized in Monday's requests. Reaction to his message Monday indicated little change in the legislative attitude.

A joint House and Senate conference committee Monday prepared to go to work on renewal of the defense production act of 1950. The Senate and House measures, which the conferees must reconcile, have both been described by the administration as too weak to control anti-inflationary forces.

Mr. Truman repeated his request for a $10,000,000,000 tax increase which the House has reduced to $7,200,000,000. The Presi-

WASHINGTON, July 23—Leonard J. (Duke) Connor, sergeant at arms of the State Senate of Kentucky since 1942, admitted to the Senate crime investigating committee that he has been operating a handbook and slot-machine parlor for the past 15 years in his home town of Latonia, Ky.

Leonard Connor

He was one of a dozen or more witnesses the committee examined Monday on gambling conditions in Campbell and Kenton Counties, in Northern Kentucky, which lie just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati. For many years, the committee has been told, gambling in those places has been wide open and unmolested by law enforcement officers.

The committee's interest in that region stemmed from testimony it received at its Cleveland hearings early this year to the effect that the Cleveland gambling syndicate had acquired interests in the more prosperous of the North Kentucky casinos, as it has done in Nevada, Michigan and, to a lesser extent, in Florida.

The Kentucky officials heard Monday said they had never even heard the names of such Cleveland operators as Moe Dalitz, Louis Rothkopf, Morris Kleinman, Charles Polizzi and others before the revelations at the earlier hearings.

They professed to be equally surprised to hear from Downey Rice, associate counsel of the com-

PUGNACIOUS PET PUSSY

Cougar Kayoed by Widow Is Rescued by Master

PORTLAND, Oregon, July 23—(AP)—An elderly widow who laid a 100-pound cougar out cold with one swing of a tree limb learned with horror Monday the big cat was back.

A neighbor said the cougar was his pet. Other neighbors said pet or no pet, they weren't stirring until they could get police to take the animal away.

Mrs. Louis Miller said the cougar bounded from brush beside a road in a suburban area northwest of Portland Saturday night and leaped on her pet bulldog. Then it turned toward her.

The 65-year-old woman swung a 12-foot-long tree limb and caught the beast squarely on the head. It dropped like a fur rug.

"I thought it was dead," said Mrs. Miller. She tied the animal to a fence with a short chain she found attached to its collar.

When police and zoo attendants arrived, the animal was snarling. It took them a half-hour to maneuver the animal into a cage, which they hauled to the zoo. Mrs. Miller said she wasn't sure the dog will recover from its wounds.

Then J. Kendall Hockensmith turned up, and said the cougar was his pet, which he kept at a house across the road from Mrs. Miller. He wanted the big cat back. Zoo attendants said they weren't sure they could move the animal safely.

"Nonsense," said Hockensmith. "She's as gentle as a kitten."

He opened the cage door and the year-old cougar strolled out and rubbed against Hockensmith's leg. Then she docilely walked with Hockensmith to his automobile, leaped onto the front seat beside him, and they drove off.

When neighbors learned the cougar was back, they called children and dogs home. Husbands said they would try to get officials to take the cougar away.

Hockensmith scoffed.

"She runs around without a chain, and never has harmed anyone," he said.

None of the neighbors went to the house to verify it.

Iran Okays Renewed Oil Talks

Harriman Plan Taken as Basis

By EDGAR CLARK

TEHRAN, Iran, July 23—(UP)—The Iranian government announced Monday it is ready to reopen discussions with the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., on the basis of proposals made by W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's special envoy to this oil-troubled country.

A memorandum outlining the basis for renewing the talks will be presented to Harriman.

Zazem Hassibi, finance ministry representative on the Oil Nationalization Board, said the memorandum was prepared during a four-hour joint meeting of the mixed oil commission and the Iranian cabinet.

READY TO NEGOTIATE

(In London, a foreign office spokesman said Britain always has been—and still is—ready to negotiate a settlement of the oil dispute and that a high-level mission could be sent to Iran if an invitation were received from the government.)

Hassibi indicated that, although Iran is willing to reopen the talks, there will be no deviation from the nationalization law under which Iran took over the billion-dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

After a later meeting of the mixed oil commission, Hassibi said:

"We have discussed the basis for renewal of negotiations with former company which was reached at this morning's cabinet meeting. We are very hopeful regarding the renewal of these negotiations. A lot of facts and figures were discussed."

CABINET APPROVES

Education Minister Karin Sanjabi, in announcing that a formula had been reached for reopening the negotiations, said the Iranian cabinet fully approved the talks between Harriman and the oil commission. He said Premier Mohammed Mossadegh would report to parliament within a week on the discussions with Harriman.

The meeting Monday was held in Mossadegh's home while Harriman conferred with Prince Abdor Reza Pahlevi, brother of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi.

GM To Close 3 Auto Plants Here for Week

General Motors will close its three big assembly plants here for one week beginning Aug. 6.

The temporary shutdown was ordered Monday in line with General Motors' national policy of closing most of its passenger car manufacturing and assembly plants for one week so as to avoid a "mass lay-off" which otherwise would result from the Government's deeper cut in the use of critical materials for automobile production, the company said.

The three plants here are the Chevrolet and Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plans and the Fisher Body Plant.

General Motors previously had announced a temporary shutdown of its plants in the Michigan area for the week beginning July 28.

The Atlanta plants will utilize the shutdown period for taking annual inventories, thus minimizing as far as possible the unemployment.

OPS To Sue 25 Georgia Restaurants

The enforcement division of the Office of Price Stabilization plans to seek injunctions in Federal Court Tuesday against some 20 or 25 Georgia restaurant operators for failure to comply with the Defense Production Act of 1950.

The suits will ask the Federal court to enjoin the operators from further business until they have complied with OPS requirements.

These cases will be the first court actions of their kind filed by the Office of Price Stabilization in Atlanta.

Under provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950 the restaurant operators are required to file names, food costs, selling prices, operating costs and other such information with the Atlanta Office of the OPS.

Several Atlanta restaurant operators will be among the group charged with failure to file information with the OPS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23. (UP)—A sharp earthquake rocked the San Francisco bay area Monday night. No casualties or damage were immediately reported.

The first shock was felt here at 8:04 p. m. PDT (10:04 EST) and lasted a few seconds. It was followed by another and shorter quake.

Violations Of Cigarette Floor Cited

By HOKE SMITH MAY

State Revenue Commissioner Charles Redwine said Monday he has had wide-spread reports of merchants selling cigarettes below the State floor price, and he warned violators they are subject to prosecution.

The revenue chief said many of the violations resulted from confusion over collection of Georgia's three percent sales tax.

The fair trade floor price on cigarettes is $1.92 a carton and 20 cents a package. Violations are most acute on carton sales, Redwine said.

He said merchants have been reporting the sales tax but charging only $1.93 for a carton of smokes. This amounts to a violation of the price floor law, he said.

He pointed out that State and Federal taxes on a carton of cigarettes amount to $1 and that, when sold for $1.93, the sales tax should be collected on 93 cents. Under the popular, voluntary bracket plan, this would amount to three additional pennies, making the legal price of the carton $1.96.

Most retailers are not charging sales tax on cigarettes by the package because taxes account for 10 cents, leaving only 10 cents as the price of the cigarettes when they are sold for 20 cents a package.

2 Fliers Killed At Ringgold

RINGGOLD, July 23—(AP)—Two persons were killed Monday when a light plane crashed on a farm 12 miles south of here.

The victims were identified as Woodrow W. Nations, 38, of Chickamauga and Dewey S. Arnold, 24, of LaFayette. Woodrow was piloting the Piper Cub.

H. C. Sims, a farmer who witnessed the crash, said the plane "banked and just seemed to drop on one side until it turned over and hit on a wing." The plane smashed into an alfalfa field which the pilot had used as a landing spot on frequent trips to Ringgold.

Sims said Nations was dead by the time he reached the wreckage. Arnold died before he could be removed from the scene.

Nations was a member of the Georgia wing of the Civil Air Patrol and had been flying for several years.

Glimmer of Hope Extended For Slight Relief From Heat

Weatherwise, Atlantans had a glimmer of hope Tuesday for better things to come—but not much better, at that.

Sol, according to the weather man, will bear down Tuesday for a repeat of the now-familiar high of 93, after a low of 72, but Wednesday he is expected to let up, allowing the mercury ease down to 92.

The official forecast calls for predominantly fair skies with a chance of afternoon or evening thundershowers. Monday's extremes in Atlanta were 71 and 93.

Senate Passes Bill To Bar Firing U.S. Workers Who Talk at Hearings

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the House Monday a bill barring any reprisals against military men and Government employees who testify at Congressional investigations.

The measure, sponsored by Senators Nixon, Republican, California, and Taft, Republican, Ohio, McCarran, Democrat, Nevada, and Wherry, Republican, Nebraska, would make it unlawful for any Federal official to dismiss or discipline an underling for testifying before a Congressional group.

Agitation for the bill grew out of President Truman's firing of Adm. Louis Denfeld as Chief of Naval Operations in the Naval-Air Force controversy over strategic bombing.

The Senate Judiciary Committee said in its report on the measure:

"This bill is designed to insure any member of the armed forces or other officer or employees of the Government, who can offer pertinent and constructive testimony at a Congressional hearing, that he may speak the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, without fear that he will suffer because his testimony may offend someone higher than himself in the Government hierarchy."

Red Rejection Hinted on UN Troop Stand

N. Korean Radio Heralds Theme in Renewed Parley

By SAM SUMMERLIN

UN ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Tuesday, July 24—(AP)—The Reds' Pyongyang radio hinted Tuesday that the Communist reply at Kaesong Wednesday would be "no" to Allied insistence on a cease-fire agenda without the issue of foreign troop withdrawals.

Cease-fire negotiators for both sides are scheduled to resume at 11 a. m. Wednesday (8 p. m. EST Tuesday) the talks which the Reds adjourned in order to study further that ticklish question.

Tuesday morning, Pyongyang radio quoted an editorial which said "all our people demand withdrawal of all foreign national troops from our territory."

"STUBBORN" VIEW HIT

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, quoted from the Korean Central Press, a Communist news agency in North Korea.

"The United States delegates propagandize that this problem has no relation with cease-fire talks," the editorial said.

"This stubborn attitude means that the U. S. is aiming to retain military bases in South Korea.... Today, in the face of their defeat (Gen. Matthew B.) Ridgway and his soldiers are aiming to stay in Korea forever.

"This comes solely from the militaristic purpose to obtain the monopolistic profit from inflated war industries."

Allied planes roared through cloudy Korean skies Tuesday keeping up a 'round-the-clock' blast at the Reds while their negotiators mapped the next move at Kaesong.

Five Red cease-fire negotiators are expected to reply to a final Allied offer. Upon the answer may hinge the decision whether Korea is to have peace or continued war.

Allied negotiators rejected with an air of finality last Saturday Red suggestions that withdrawals go on an agenda for armistice discussions. The Reds then asked for a recess until Wednesday.

The heaviest ground fighting in several weeks flared up Monday on the eastern front. There UN forces pushed out against a hill mass stubbornly defended by North Korean Reds. There also was a renewal of fighting in several other sectors along a 135-mile front.

Since the armistice talks started at Kaesong July 10, the Reds have insisted that immediate withdrawal of "foreign" troops be placed on the agenda—the list of topics to be discussed in seeking a cease-fire.

UN ADAMANT

The United Nations negotiators were equally insistent that this was a political question.

The Allied position is that UN forces will not withdraw from Korea until the time is right. U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson made clear in Washington last week that the American forces would not pull out until the Republic of Korea army is strong encugh to defend itself from the North Koreans.

Vice Adm. Charles Turner Joy and two other UN delegates, Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie and Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke returned to camp Monday night after private conferences in Tokyo with Gen. Ridgway, supreme allied commander.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 23. (AP)—Randolph Air Force Base, which has trained 20,000 aviation cadets and sometimes was called "West Point of the Air," Monday graduated its last class of cadets.

With the graduation, the base became exclusively a B-29 combat crew training center.

GOPs Seek Pact Easing Rollbacks

Want Materials, Labor Cost Basis

By CLAYTON KNOWLES
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, July 23—Republicans began working quietly Monday for a compromise on the defense production bill that would permit rollbacks in industrial prices only if allowance is made for materials, labor and other reasonable costs.

This move gained headway as it became evident that the question of tailoring out-of-line prices would be the big issue before the Senate-House conference that, in sessions starting Wednesday, will seek to reconcile differences in the controls measures adopted by the House and Senate.

Congressional leaders visiting President Truman Monday morning told him they were confident a workable measure can be evolved in conference and passed by the Congress before July 31, the date when a stop-gap extension of the present law expires.

CROWDED TO WEEKEND

To meet this schedule, the conferees, seven from the House and seven from the Senate, probably will have to work right through the weekend. (Included among the House conferees is Rep. Paul Brown, of Elberton, Georgia.)

The two bills before the conference differ on at least 50 points but only a few are of major significance and, of these, the rollback question is likely to be most difficult.

The solution of this problem, sought by high-ranking Senate Republicans, lies in an amendment, advanced by Sen. Millikin, Rep., Colo., that the Senate accepted, half without knowing how it would apply, in closing action on its version of a controls bill late in June.

The Millikin amendment was tacked on to an arbitrary ban on further rollbacks proposed by the Senate Banking Committee, made even more rigid in an amendment by Sen. Wherry, Neb., the Republican leader.

ADJUSTMENTS ASKED

The Millikin amendment, changed at points at suggestion of Sen. Humphrey, Dem., Minn., read:

"Nothing in this paragraph shall prohibit the establishment or maintenance of a ceiling price with respect to any material (other than an agricultural commodity) which is based upon a period prior to Jan. 25, 1951, if such ceiling price reflects adjustments for increases or decreases in actual factory and labor costs, including reasonable allowances for other costs occuring subsequent to such period."

Millikin will not be a conference member but it is understood that the language of his amendment is being worked over by Senate colleagues who are conferees.

It is not known whether House Republicans on the conference will support this effort toward compromise. With the exception of Rep. Ralph Gamble, N. Y., most of them are out of sympathy with the House rollback provision which, while barring further cutbacks in the price of agricultural products, leaves full authority for rollbacks in industrial prices.

Dixie Walker Refused Reinstatement by Hurth

Southern Association Pres. Charlie Hurth, convinced that his original decision was "proper and just," Monday refused to modify Dixie Walker's 90-day suspension.

Shortly after the announcement from Hurth's New Orleans office, Earl Mann, aroused Atlanta president, said the club would make an immediate appeal to George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, and if necessary, to the major league executive council.

Trautman had remanded the case to Hurth for further consideration last Friday.

The Atlanta manager was suspended indefinitely June 30, a day after Umpire Paul Roy forfeited a game at Mobile. Hurth made an investigation and on July 6 he suspended Walker for 90 playing days. Dixie was fined $100 and the club $300.

Atlanta based its appeal on the fact that Hurth had misinterpreted Rule 4:13. That rule specifies: "Penalty—the manager responsible for the team's refusal to play shall be subject to a fine by the president of the league and suspension for a period of not less than 90 playing days."

Trautman asked for an interpretation from the playing rules committee—Billy Evans, Branch Rickey and Frank Shaughnessy. In a telegram to Hurth, Trautman informed that the "league president has a discretion as to whether or not to impose the penalty in any given case."

Thus, Hurth had two courses. He could reinstate Walker with no penalty, or stand by his previous ruling.

"I am frank to say," Hurth stated Monday, "that if I had the right to determine the length of the suspension, it would not have been as great as 90 playing days. I did not have that right. I had two choices.

"If I had failed to suspend, on the basis that the suspension penalty was too drastic, it could have been considered an open invitation to any manager in the league to use a forfeit any time a decision he disliked was made against him."

Hurth said, after the forfeiture of the game, the most "significant

Labor Party Ranks Show Trend Against Rearming

By RAYMOND DANIELL
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, July 23—The preliminary agenda for the Labor Party conference next October, published Monday, disclosed widespread support within the party for the views of Aneurin Bevan and his supporters who oppose the government policy on rearmament and alliance with the United States and put the demands of welfare above the needs of defense.

Of the 37 resolutions on the rearmament program proposed by local units of the Labor Party and trades union constituents, only one offers support of the government policy on rearmament. Even this one finds fault with the way in which the government is distributing the burden of the £4,700,000,000 defense plan.

Two resolutions have been offered calling upon the conference to support Bevan and his colleagues now and in the future, so long as they continue to "struggle on behalf of the working class to retain and increase the gains made since 1945."

WANT WELFARE FIRST

Another calls on the government to reconsider the "heavy and crippling" rearmament program. There are many other resolutions expressing the view that the defense plan is too ambitious and that in the order of precedence, social welfare should come before rearmament.

On foreign policy there are also 37 proposed resolutions, many of which are critical of American influence on British policy, especially in connection with the rearming of Germany and Japan. There are many expressions of fear that a return of the conservatives to power would increase the danger of war. Some go so far as to call on the government to withdraw British troops from Korea, halt the embargo on strategic materials for China, press for admission of the Chinese Communist government into the United Nations and withdraw from the Brussels and Atlantic pacts.

HIT LIVING COST

As was expected, the greatest number of resolutions demand government action to curb the rising cost of living. Last year only 44 resolutions were offered on the subject of wages, prices and profits. This year there are 134. Here too the resolutions reflect the influence of Bevan and his supporters, demanding a larger dose of Socialism as the cure for higher prices.

The interesting thing about the preliminary agenda is that it shows that either the Bevanites have been both active and successful in gaining converts or that there is a genuine and spontaneous support for their view that is far more widespread than even the government leaders suspected.

Ike Dedicates Pact Army Headquarters

By JOHN RODERICK

MARLY LE ROI, France, July 23—(AP)—Standing in a one-time cabbage patch 12 miles outside Paris, Gen. Eisenhower Monday dedicated his new Atlantic Pact Headquarters to "a secure peace attained through strength."

The five-star general and French President Vincent Auriol presided over the ceremony formally opening the cluster of one-story offices and barracks.

"In all history," said Eisenhower "this is the first time that an allied headquarters has been set up in peace to preserve the peace and not to wage war.

"It is our prayer," he continued, "that with high courage and with the support of our people and the grace of God we shall not fail in this purpose. We strive to lift from the hearts of men the fear of the cell block in the slave camps. We strive to establish Pax Atlantica (Atlantic Peace) under which all men may push forward to new heights, to new levels of achievement.

"In a secure peace attained through strength is now the safety and security of the free nations."

Eisenhower then declared:

"And now, Mr. President, I declare SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe) to be officially opened."

An 1897-style French 75mm gun boomed salute; enlisted men hoisted the flags of the 12 Atlantic Pact nations on a semicircle of flagpoles.

Corp. Donald J. Sitar of (33 Highland Ave.) Beacon Falls, Conn., acted for the United States.

Auriol officially handed over the SHAPE site—part of the Presidential hunting grounds in the forest of Marly—in a brief speech recalling that France had twice suffered the horrors of war in this century.

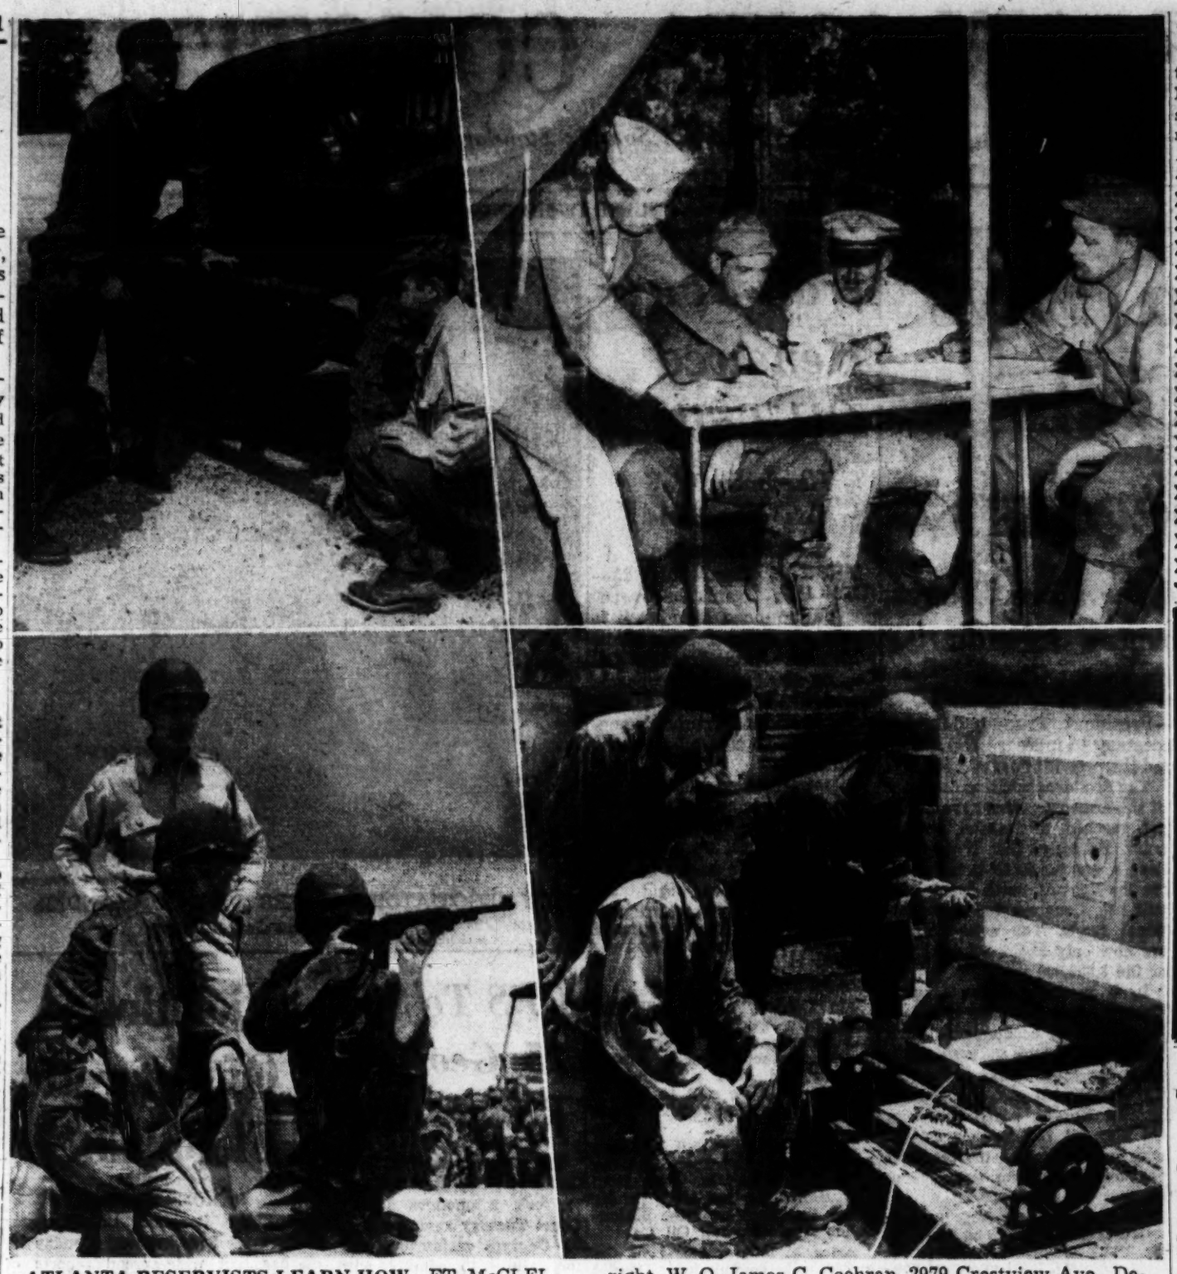

He said that in the new headquarters would be laid the basis of collective security in the spirit of the United Nations charter.

Auriol promised that France would deliver to Eisenhower the 10 divisions it has guaranteed by the end of this year.

Water Main Break Lowers Pressure

Water pressures in the Buckhead and Marietta areas were low for about two hours Monday afternoon when a water main joint blew out on Northside Dr. just south of Collier Rd., R. J. Dodgen, water works repair foreman, said.

Dodgen said "hundreds" of complaints were received from the Buckhead area when pressures dropped after the interruption at 5 p. m.

Touring Senators 'Impressed' With Ike's Pact Forces

WASHINGTON, July 23—(UP)—Senate Foreign Relations Committee members said Monday on their return from Europe that they were impressed with Gen. Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact army but that the program should be speeded.

Sen. Theodore F. Green (Dem., R. I.) chairman of the touring group, said that while members were gratified with achievements so far, they were equally impressed by the "gravity of a number of decisions" the United States must face within a few weeks.

As a result, he said, all the senators are concerned with the need for fast work in building anti-Communist defenses. He added that some pact allies are not yet pulling their full weight.

The committee plans to begin hearings later this week on President Truman's $8,500,000,000 "mutual security program" of foreign military and defense-slanted economic aid. Some senators believe the program could be cut or perhaps spread over two years.

The senators, members of a foreign relations subcommittee, who saw Eisenhower several times during their two-week survey, were reluctant to comment on Eisenhower's presidential possibilities next year.

But Sen. Owen Brewster (Rep., Me.), chairman of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee, said the general is and will be "indispensable" in Europe.

"There is no sign of his mixing up in politics," he added.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (Rep., N. J.), said politics did not come up openly and "we gathered the impression that this was one thing which Gen. Eisenhower did not want to talk about."

Some GOP senators backing Eisenhower will resist any heavy foreign aid cuts on grounds such action would hurt his presidential chances.

'Before Hartsfield' Map Presented Mayor

Mayor William B. Hartsfield had a new map and a broad smile Monday.

H. W. Graves, Georgia district manager for Standard Oil Co., presented the Mayor with one of the company's new maps. It outlines Atlanta's current city limits, labeled "Before Hartsfield," and the new 82-mile stretch of new territory to be added under the Plan of Improvement in January, labeled "After Hartsfield."

The Mayor said it was the first map he has seen which recognizes Atlanta's "new boundaries."

Klan Bombing Report Probed

Fulton County Sol. Gen. Paul Webb Monday said he will begin an immediate investigation into reports that two ex-members of the Ku Klux Klan are ready to give information on the bombing of an Atlanta Negro home last March.

The two men allegedly admitted they were members of Oakland City Klavern No. 297 March 24 when they were asked to go on a "night raid" bombing of a Negro home at 518 East Ave., N. E. The men were identified as George D. Sligh of Jonesboro and W. M. Bruce of Morrow.

Sligh reportedly said he was informed of the night raid and told the Klansmen he would not put up with night raids and bombings. He said he called Bruce and they in turn called police to try to stop the bombing.

According to police records, a Negro home at 524 East Ave. was bombed March 24. The home at 518 was bombed earlier.

MGC Reserves Set for Training

The 436th Military Government Company (Reserve) will leave Aug. 5 for two weeks' training at Camp Gordon in military occupational duties.

Field training will cover military-political problems involved in a hypothetical military occupation, and will include processing and care of displaced persons and reconstruction of war-damaged cities. The program will be concluded with a one-day command post exercise prepared by staff section heads.

There are still several vacancies in the unit, said its commanding officer, Lt. Col. William J. Perryman, Jr., 5050 Peachtree-Dunwoody Rd., N. E. Anyone interested in joining the unit can obtain information from Maj. Roy Glisson, Jr., at Atlanta Organized Reserve Corps Armory, 699 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E.

Jury Ponders Convict Work

The DeKalb Grand Jury Monday night waded through a thick stack of correspondence both supporting and criticizing work done by DeKalb County on private property, Foreman Harry C. Walker said.

In this second session of its investigation of county improvements on private land the jury also heard attorneys' opinions on whether such work is legal, Walker said. He declined to say what the opinions indicated.

Walker said the jury will meet again Wednesday night to hear more witnesses. He said the jury reviewed testimony of some dozen witnesses who appeared Friday night, as well as going into "a mass of written material" which included lists of county work on private property as well as "a large number of letters."

Rail Mail Clerk Jailed for Theft

MOBILE, Ala., July 23—(AP)—A husky, 28-year-old Jackson, Tenn. railway mail clerk was sentenced to three years in prison Monday for a $14,000 mail theft.

Oscar Leon Rawlings was charged with taking the money from a registered letter on a mail car last Feb. 15.

He was on a spending spree in St. Louis when he was arrested. His generosity to taxi drivers and bartenders, with tips as high as $100, aroused suspicion.

Defense Atty. James E. Palmer, of Meridian, Miss., urged a suspended sentence, saying Rawings had been drinking heavily at the time and didn't realize what he was doing. He said Rawlings now was working in Meridian.

Seven of Mrs. Trauernicht's nine great-grandchildren were present at the celebration.

Dry Dock Closed By CIO Strikers

MOBILE, Ala., July 23—(AP)—Alabama Dry Dock & Shipbuilding Company's Pinto Island shipyard was shut down Monday by a strike of CIO production and maintenance workers.

A contract between the company and the union expired last midnight. The workers went on strike at 12:01 a. m., and stationed pickets at the entrances.

All ship repair and barge construction work in the yard was halted.

COMMUNICATIONS SETUP PRAISED

Georgia Tops 45 States In Defense Plan Phase

Georgia is "one of the top three states in the nation" in civil defense communications planning, P. M. Schuchart, chief of the communication section of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, declared here Monday.

Schuchart lauded "concrete work" of the State CD unit, following a conference with State CD Director Ernest Vandiver, Deputy Director Frank Kopf, State communications chief C. L. Matson, representatives of Southern Bell Telephone Co. and other communications organizations.

Schuchart reviewed preparations of the State CD communications division which would make possible immediate activation in case of enemy attack. The Federal official, who has been inspecting CD groups over the nation, said Georgia "ranked along with the states of New York and Illinois as the top three in communications planning."

"I am favorably impressed by Georgia's far-reaching plans for defense and by co-operation of both Bell and independent communications systems," he added.

Schuchart warned against "public apathy" toward civil defense planning.

No Clues Left In Plant Blast, Police Assert

Detectives Monday were virtually without a clue in the early morning bombing of the Atlanta Metallic Casket Co. plant at 272 Elliott St., N. W., where a strike has been in progress for more than three months.

The explosion, discovered at 2:10 a. m., damaged 20 windows ripped away the steps from a loading platform and blew a metal drain grate out of its concrete foundation. Dets. O. L. Adams and R. B. Moore said they were unable to find a trace of the bomb.

Presumably the explosive, believed to have been a stick of dynamite, was tossed against the building from railroad tracks running along the side, detectives said. They added steel workers have been on strike there for more than three months.

Several other incidents have occurred at the plant since the strike began, detectives related. They quoted company officials as saying an injunction was obtained in May to halt damage at the plant.

The company, employing approximately 500 persons, has operated at full production through the strike.

Czechs Snub Demand To Free Oatis

U. S. Says Reply Is 'Unsatisfactory'

WASHINGTON, July 23—(U.P.)—Communist Czechoslovakia has rejected a direct U. S. demand for immediate release of an American newspaper reporter imprisoned on trumped-up spy charges, the State Department announced Monday.

But Department spokesman Michael J. McDermott said new American moves of an undisclosed nature are "under study" to free William N. Oatis. The Associated Press Prague correspondent was sentenced to 10 years in jail earlier this month.

McDermott told a news conference the Czech cabinet sent a brief note Saturday to the U. S. Embassy in reply to a stern demand for action by Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs.

"The reply," McDermott said, "was unsatisfactory in that it did not comply with the Embassy's request for the immediate freeing of Mr. Oatis."

Neither did the Prague government indicate any clear path for further negotiations, he added. So far as is known, Czechoslovakia has not named a specific "ransom" for the American reporter.

Oatis, seized for attempting to carry out his regular duties, has not been allowed to talk to U. S. Embassy representatives since his imprisonment.

OPS Okays Six-Cent Soda Pop; Manufacturers Can Charge 4c July 28

The Office of Price Stabilization has okayed the six-cent bottle of soda pop nationally, but prices here are likely to remain at a nickel a bottle.

Indication that the nickel line would be held in Atlanta (although it has already been broken in about a score of Georgia cities) came when Arthur Montgomery, vice president of the Atlanta Coca-Cola Bottling Company, said his company "has no idea of jumping the price on its product. He added the retail price to customers has been five cents a bottle since 1900.

After next Saturday, the OPS said manufacturers of soda pop may raise their prices to four cents a bottle. Retail prices may rise from five to six cents a bottle.

Where bottlers take only a part of the increase, the drinking price will stay at a nickel a single bottle.

East Point Expectant Mother Kidnaped, Raped Four Times

A 28-year-old expectant mother was kidnaped near her home in East Point Saturday, forced into a truck with three men, and assaulted four times at a Clayton County tourist court, police said Monday.

She was treated by a private physician after the ordeal and advised to go to Grady Hospital. X-rays were made at Grady Monday to determine the full extent of her injuries.

East Point Dets. H. L. Stanley and W. B. Cawthon said the woman told them she was accosted by the men as she walked toward her home from a nearby theater.

One of the men put his hand over her mouth and while another menaced her with a knife, forcing her into the truck, she related to the officers.

She was taken to a tourist court on Highway 41 where the men gagged her with torn pillow cases and bound her wrists. Two men, both about 30, allegedly raped the woman twice each after their teen-age companion had begged them to let her go. The younger man heard her explain that her baby was due in a month.

The officers quoted her as saying that after the cabin ordeal, during which she was physically unable to offer resistance, she sought to make an outcry to an employee of the tourist court but was silenced by the man who struck her across the mouth and told her to "get out of there."

En route back toward East Point she said she again attempted to make an outcry at a service station where the men stopped for gasoline. An attendant at the station verified the woman's statement to police.

She said the man put her out of the car on a graded road near Hapeville at 3:30 a. m., Sunday after which she walked to the Hapeville police station. There officers called Sheriff W. L. Dixon in Clayton County.

The woman said she and her husband returned to Clayton County and attempted to obtain a warrant for the tourist court employe who struck her when she first attempted to report the rape. She was quoted as saying the sheriff told her, "Let's wait and see who the boys are first."

Senate Increases Sick Vet Pensions

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the White House Monday a bill to provide pensions up to $120 a month for war veterans who must have nursing care.

The pensions would be available only to persons with less than $1,000 annual income if single, or $2,500 if they have dependents. The pensions would apply to non-service disabilities. They would add 23,700 World War I veterans, 400 from World War II and 50 from the Spanish-American War to the pension rolls.

The finance committee said it couldn't estimate the number of Korean veterans who might be affected but it estimated the annual cost of payments to the others at $16,700,000.

The Senate also passed and sent to the White House a bill authorizing the renewal every five years of five-year term insurance policies of World War I veterans.

mittee, the large "takes" their local gambling establishments gathered in a year. He told them the Yorkshire Club "handled" $1,526,000 in 1948 and 1949, of which $425,000 was net profit, most of which went to the Cleveland shareholders. The Beverly Hills Club "take" was $975,000 for the same period, he told them, of which $426,000 was net profit.

"Those figures seem to me to be fabulous," commented William J. Wise, commonwealth attorney for Campbell County.

James E. Quill, his "opposite number" for Kenton County, readily agreed that open gambling has been tolerated in his part of the State for a good many years, adding that "I tolerated a good deal of it myself."

The two attorneys testified that the organized gamblers in Campbell and Kenton counties closed down regularly three times a year for nine days at a time while the county grand juries are meeting. The grand juries, for their part, are then unable to find that any gambling exists in the counties and so reports to the circuit court.

COMMISSIONER APPROACHED

John J. Mononey, a yardmaster for the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad in Cincinnati, and a recently elected city commissioner of Covington, said that he had been approached, soon after taking office, with the suggestion that he get into the "profit-sharing plan" by which the professional gamblers were said to spread the economic fruits of their labors among passive co-workers in the Vineyard.

He told the committee it is commonly understood in Covington that the mayor gets $150 a week, each of the commissioners (except himself) $100 a week, and city detectives $150 a month. When he declined to go into the arrangement, he said he was told he might as well get the benefits, as he would have the reputation of taking the money anyway.

Sergeant-at-arms Connor complained that his horse book lost money last year for the first time since he has been operating it. He blamed the adverse result on the mounting cost of living. He observed that his clients "go broke in the grocery store before they get to my place."

The witnesses were in general agreement that the big-time gambling has closed down in the two counties, largely as a result of the publicity thrown on it by the committee's hearings. Most of them were less than optimistic that it would stay closed.

Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking CAMELS!

—that's what noted throat specialists reported in a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days.

These stars tested for mildness...their throats gave them the answer —CAMELS!

Mario Lanza

His glorious voice has carried him to the top. To find the cigarette whose mildness suited him best, Mario Lanza tested various brands—and Camels won! He says, "They taste great and they agree with my throat!"

Anne Jeffreys

This glamourous singing star of Broadway and Hollywood was unimpressed by the quick-trick mildness tests. "My own 30-day Camel test was the test that convinced me. It's Camels—for mildness and flavor!"

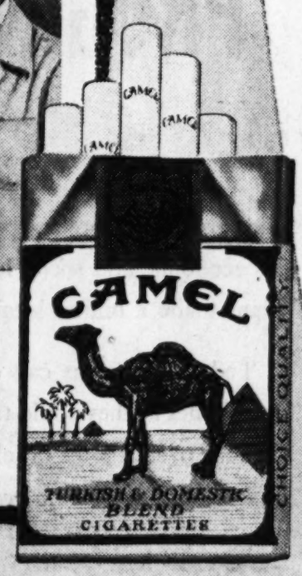

Tryout with the Dodgers

Brooklyn stars Carl Furillo (right) and "Preacher" Roe have given cigarettes a tryout. Carl says, "I made all the mildness tests I've read about. My own 30-day Camel test sold me. Camels have swell flavor—and they're mild!"

"The Preach" agrees: "I've tried a lot of brands and Camel is my choice."

Make the one sensible cigarette mildness test. Smoke only CAMELS for 30 days!

There's one sensible, thorough way to test a cigarette for mildness—give it a steady tryout. Smoke only Camels for 30 days—enjoy Camel's rich, full flavor—and compare Camels for mildness.

Your "T-Zone" (T for Throat and T for Taste) will tell you how mild and flavorful Camels are, pack after pack, week after week!

HOSPITAL ROUNDUP

Baby Falls From 2d Floor, Receives Minor Injuries

Seventeen-month-old Larry Lyles of 890 Highland Ave., N. E., is probably the luckiest—and the bouncingest—baby in Atlanta.

Little Larry, according to records at Grady Hospital, fell from the second floor of an apartment house Monday, suffering only abrasions of the head and slight lacerations to his shoulder.

Nine persons were injured Monday in motor vehicle accidents in the Atlanta area and five others were treated at Grady for miscellaneous mishaps.

Motorcyclist William Glenn Wallace, 23, of 340 Eugene St., S. W., suffered leg and groin injuries when he was thrown from his vehicle on Edgewood Ave.

William Robert Gibson Jr., of 391 Chastain St., S. E., fell on his head, suffering contusions, when a car hit his motorcycle at Courtland St., N. E., and Currier St., N. E. Another motorcyclist, 50-year-old Hubert Franklin Sr. of 757 Parkway Dr., N. E., was knocked from his machine by a truck just past the fork of Piedmont Rd. and the Buford Highway, N. E. He was treated at Grady for head lacerations and abrasions of the arms, knees and shoulders.

Charlie Algurnum Cables, 25, of 1142 Spring St., N. E., and Virgil Tibbetts of Dallas were treated for abrasions of the right arms and knees they received in an accident at the intersection of Hampton St., N. W., and Eighth St., N. W.

Two Scottdale women listed as Mrs. Eva Mae Ozburn, 44, and Mrs. Ruby Louise Barnes, 19, received slight injuries in an auto wreck at 2640 Memorial Dr., S. W.

William Fred Odum, 22, of 88 Atlanta Ave., S. E., suffered bruises and other injuries to his right arm when it struck a utility pole while he held it outside a window of a trolley on Mitchell Street.

William Raiford Malcolm, 20, of Ben Hill was treated for lacerations of his left arm when he fell from an auto Monday morning.

Two children were treated for dog bite injuries—Judy Ann Chapman, 9, of 627 Glenwood Ave., S. E., and Elisha Horace Whatley, 8, of 1060 Virginia Ave., N. E.

Victims of falls were nine-year-old Bobby Eugene McWhorter of 200 Laurel Ave., S. W., Violet Rosita Holland, 2, of 201 Tye St., S. E., and 10-month-old Stanley Ray Hall of 733 Primrose St., S. W.

Tony, Popular Chimp At Grant Park, Dies

"Tony," Grant Park's popular, 12-year-old chimpanzee, is dead of an acute cardiac failure.

Dr. Charles Rife, who performed the autopsy, said the animal had complicating infections of lungs and intestines, but attributed the death to the heart ailment.

"Tony" has been one of the most popular attractions at the zoo since he came there in 1949, George Simons, parks manager, said.

90 MPH Race From Sheriff Ends in Death

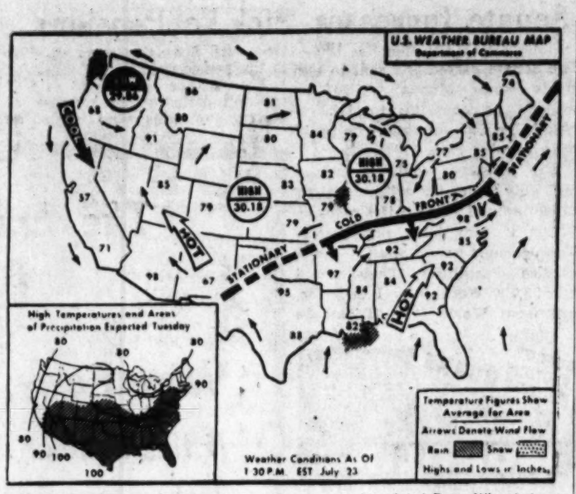

Herbert L. Chapman, 33, of Route 2, Blue Ridge, was killed Sunday night when his car went off Highway 5 north of Canton but his body wasn't discovered until early Monday morning.

According to Ptl. L. Wheeler of the Canton State Patrol station, a watchman at the Canton Mills found the wrecked car two miles north of Canton.

After apparently hitting a culvert spillway at the edge of the road the car went 115 feet off the road and stopped just north of Hickory Creek, police said. Chapman's body was thrown about 91 feet across the creek. Wheeler said Chapman died almost instantly.

Assigned to an MP Battalion in Atlanta, Chapman had been arrested for reckless driving about an hour before he was killed. State patrolmen were directing traffic around another accident five miles south of Jasper when they arrested Chapman for speeding.

Chapman was turned over to Sheriff Howard Cagle and was told to follow the sheriff back to Jasper. He eluded Cagle before reaching the destination and continued south on Route 5. Wheeler said Canton patrolmen had estimated the speed of Chapman's car to be 90 miles per hour when it crashed.

THE NATION'S WEATHER—Most of the southern half of the country has showers and thundershowers in prospect Tuesday. Northern half of the nation will have fair weather. Temperatures will show a warming trend from Lake Michigan westward to the Columbia plateau. Except for a return to cooler weather in the central Ohio valley, the Southern plains and the northern Pacific states, there will be little temperature change elsewhere.

Police Blotter

Loses Two Races

James Madden, 18-year-old Negro of 695 State St., N. W., lost two races Monday.

Dets. J. E. Sikes and R. A. Boone said they caught a car Madden was driving on McDaniel St. then had to chase Madden on foot two blocks before capturing him. The auto and 18 gallons of illegal corn liquor it contained were impounded. Madden was placed under $200 bond for disorderly conduct — transporting illegal liquor.

Old Coupe Escapes

A 1940 model "souped up" coupe late Monday eluded DeKalb County officers in a cross-country race in which Doraville and Chamblee police also participated.

DeKalb Ptl. T. H. Spruell and R. O. Morris said the chase was on Buford Highway and Spalding Rd., with the fleeing machine turning frequently on unpaved roads in the area.

Despite road blocks the coupe disappeared in a cloud of dust over the Gwinnett County line before additional police cars could reach the scene.

Tie: Both Win

Two friends, both of whom denied driving an auto which smashed into a utility pole on Cherokee Ave. Saturday, had cases against them dismissed in traffic court at 7:30 a. m. Monday.

Traffic Recorder Luke Arnold heard Ptl. E. L. Thaxton and P. E. Edwards tell of arresting John Marvin Hammett, 30, of College Park and R. T. Brumbalow, 30, of 394 St. Johns Ave., S. W., a few blocks from the scene of the mishap where they both claimed the other was driver of the car. The bewildered recorder dismissed cases for drunk operating-accident, drunk under the wheel, and failing to report an accident against the two.

Victim Injured, Rape Trial Waits

Condition of a 51-year-old rape victim has postponed possible indictment of a man being held for the crime, Cobb County police said Monday.

The police said the case against 25-year-old Boisy Hill, Negro, could not go before the Cobb Grand Jury, which adjourns Tuesday, because the victim is in Kennestone Hospital in Marietta with a fractured hip and in shock, unable to appear in court.

According to police, Hill has admitted theft of a rifle from her home on the night of the attack. He denied attacking the woman, however.

All-Star Quartet Scores Big Hit at Emory Concert

By ALEX JOINER

The All-Star Quartet willing, there would have been song-making all night Monday night at Emory University.

A friendly audience at the third Summer Concert in Glenn Memorial Auditorium which had called the foursome back from last summer obviously got just what it was asking for. It roared approval at a two-hour program of opera and Broadway . . . and begged for more.

There wasn't an empty seat in the house and approximately 200 persons stood up at the back of the auditorium or listened through open windows on the lawn.

The smiling singers themselves—Frances Hughes, soprano; Alice Tomlinson, contralto; Lem Edmondson, tenor, and Douglas Moore, baritone—were never in better form and, carried away by the warm evening's infection, seemed to have fun too.

They sang together like one well-tuned instrument and solo with authority.

The Quartet during the first group of classical favorites arrived at a melodic line that carried throughout the varied program.

Second group of offerings consisted of operatic arias after which Edmondson opened the third group singing Friml's "The Donkey Serenade" and he brought forth a shattering ovation when he finished off a "Be My Love" encore with a sustained high D flat note.

Miss Hughes sang "Giannina Mia" for her solo and a beautiful "Summertime" encore; Miss Tomlinson sang Herbert's "'Neath a Southern Moon" and "So In Love" from "Kiss Me Kate" for an encore; and Moore displayed excellent diction in "This Nearly Was Mine" and "Some Enchanted Evening," both from "South Pacific."

Baby a Shield For Arrest-Fighter

Two Atlanta patrolmen were faced Monday with the job of subduing an alleged wife beater who threw punches at them from behind a baby he used for a shield.

Ptl. M. C. Faulkner and E. F. Jackson were called to 583 Washington St., S. W., where they said 35-year-old Jack Hardy had chased his wife from their home with a butcher knife after beating her.

They said when he saw them he picked up the Hardy child in his arms and cursed them, landing a punch on Faulkner's jaw.

After subduing him, Ptl. Jackson said, they booked Hardy for disorderly and drunk, wife beating, assault on an officer, and resisting arrest. A hearing was set for 2 p. m. Tuesday in Recorder's Court.

Enjoy 19 HOURS OF TREATMENT NOW—AND THICKER HAIR FOR LIFE!

George W. Leishear
Trichologist
Mueller Hair Experts

Yes, most Mueller clients spend no more than a total of 19 hours in half-hour treatments. By then their scalps are healthy again. Dandruff is eliminated . . . hair-killing germs destroyed . . . blood circulation stimulated . . . and the process of normal hair growth is well begun.

Treatments are enjoyable, too. You relax in comfort and let Mueller experts do the work.

How to Insure Your Hair

You can keep a healthy head of hair for life by following the Mueller plan, which has 90 years of combined experience behind it. These are the simple steps:

1 Have your scalp examined free by a Mueller trichologist.
2 Take treatment—if your Mueller expert advises it—until your scalp is growing healthy new hair.
3 After treatment ends, follow the simple rules of scalp hygiene taught by your trichologist.
4 Come back to the clinic for a check-up without charge, three times a year.

Whatever you do, a good head of hair is an asset that justifies an investment of many more than 19 hours. Come in today and get started on your hair insurance program.

Georgia's growing telephone lines...

LIFE-LINES OF GEORGIA PROGRESS!

Fast-growing Georgia depends more and more on the telephone. Its economic and social life are geared to it. Last year Georgians made a billion local calls.

Today Georgians can call more than twice as many local telephones as they could ten years ago, and the service is better. Yet the overall price of telephone service has gone up less than one-third as much as prices in general.

The demand for more and more telephones continues, and Southern Bell hopes to build during 1951 nearly $20 million of new facilities to provide the expansion and improvement of telephone service that is so essential to Georgia's progress, and to national defense.—Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Marietta St. Dress-Up Planned Before Winter

Proud old Marietta Street will have a new "dress" before Winter if city leaders can get up the $125,000 to buy it.

Council Finance Chairman Ralph Huie said Monday he believed the money for the improvement from Spring Street to Five Point could be provided before the Aug. 6 Council session.

Hoping to complete the beautification project before Winter chill sets in, Huie said he planned conferences with Construction Chief Clarke Donaldson and Ald. Dowse Donaldson, chairman of the Public Works Committee, in an attempt to get the funds.

The program includes the widening of sidewalks, channelization for traffic, resurfacing of the street from Spring to Five Points, pedestrian safety islands in the center of the thoroughfare; and the switching of loading and unloading zones for trackless trolleys and buses from the center of the street to curb lines.

Jackson P. Dick, chairman of the board of the Atlanta Transit Co., estimated it will cost from $90,000 to $100,000 to relocate wires for trackless trolleys along the affected area.

Chief Donaldson said it will take four months to complete the project with work being done piecemeal to avoid excessive traffic congestion. The key block is between Broad and Forsyth sts. and will take about six weeks. That block will be done one-third at a time, leaving two thirds of the street open for traffic. The curb strips will be done in daylight hours, but the center strip will be done at night—between midnight and 6 a. m.—under present plans.

Social Security Tax No Furor-Raiser Here

Collector of Internal Revenue Marion Allen said Monday his office had received no objections as yet to the social security amendment covering household and farm help.

Rebellious Marshall, Texas, housewives previously told Secretary of the Treasurer Snyder the act is unconstitutional and imposes "involuntary servitude."

Allen emphasized that deadline for filing social security reports for the second quarter of this year is July 31.

Flood Crest Loses Punch At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, July 23—(AP)—The midwest's record flood crest lost some of its punch South of St. Louis Monday despite a brief fling of rain and wind.

The next major town facing the crest in Cape Girardeau, Mo., some 100 miles south of here, where the peak is expected Tuesday night at 42 feet—.4 of a foot below the 1943 top, but above the 1947 level.

Rains of more than five inches fell in many Northern Missouri and some North-Central Illinois communities over the weekend. Scattered thundershowers are predicted for those areas during the next two days, but weather bureau officials said only a prolonged rainfall would threaten the Missouri and Mississippi rivers a second time.

The last area termed critical was across from Chester, Ill., 60 miles South of here, where soldiers and civilians worked around the clock to hold the river out of 23,500 acres of rich Missouri farmland.

The crest passed Chester Monday morning at 39.3, but the levees, on both the Illinois and Missouri sides, were considered in danger until the river goes down substantially. Water was above the levee top on the Missouri side and a strong windstorm slammed waves against the sandbag barricade which held.

A two-mile stretch along the Cape Girardeau waterfront was flooded, closing several factories. About two and a half blocks of the main business district were covered. An estimated 50 families were routed from homes.

At St. Louis the river dropped to 39.9 Monday after a peak early Sunday of 40.28—highest in 107 years. Another two and a half-foot fall was predicted by Thursday.

Only patroling action continued on levees still standing in this area. Evacuation work was halted.

SAE Grads to Meet At Fulton Park

The Atlanta Alumni Association of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will meet for an outdoor dinner at 7 p. m. Wednesday at the Master Grill in North Fulton Park, according to Bob Cousens, president. In case of rain, dinner will be served in one of the scout buildings.

Married members are urged to bring members of their family. Unmarried members may bring their dates. Swimming or golf are optional diversions.

Alarm Clock Watch Intrigues Kefauver

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—Senate crime investigators looked around in surprise Monday when an alarm-clock buzzing went off in the midst of a hearing on gambling activities in northern Kentucky.

"That's my speech-making watch," explained Kenton County Circuit Court Judge Joseph P. Goodenmugh apologetically. He was the witness at the time.

He said his wrist watch has a little alarm attached to it and "when I talk too long it goes off."

"Maybe we could use some of those around here," grinned Sen. Kefauver (Dem., Tenn.).

TRUMAN

dent said again that the tax rise is essential in the general plan to check inflationary pressures during the period of expanding armament expenditures.

The President's comments on the 250-page report submitted by his advisers dealt with defense mobilization policy as well as economic questions.

HITS "EXTREMISTS"

Sharp words were used for "extremists" who have expersssed their views during the Korean crisis. The President warned that "we must avoid shifting from one extreme of policy to another with every new development, either national or international, when such developments do not alter the fundamental situation."

Immediately after the outbreak of the Korean war, Mr. Truman said, extremists in military affairs wanted a 10,000,000 man army force and a $100,000,000,000 a year military budget.

In economic affairs, the President continued, "there were some extremists who wanted to freeze the whole economy in a strait jacket of controls more extensive than anything attempted during World War II."

"Today," the President said, "extremists are pulling in a diametrically opposite direction. At the first signs of a let-down of the conflict in Korea, they have commenced to clamor for a reduction in our defense program.

"FULL OF HOLES"

"On the economic front, as soon as there is a slight softening of inflationary pressures, these extremists are ready to discard the whole structure of inflationary controls, or shoot it full of holes."

The President quoted from the report of his economic advisers to show that expenditures for rearmament will rise rapidly in the year ahead. Currently expenditures for defense and running at an annual rate of $35,000,000,000, he said, and are scheduled to increase to an annual rate of more than $50,000,000,000 by the end of this year and to attain a rate of nearly $65,000,000,000 by the middle of 1952.

Within the coming months deliveries of aircraft, weapons, tanks and other military end-items will rise sharply and will average three times the $1,000,000,000 monthly they now represent.

According to the Council of Economic Advisers, six per cent of U. S. total production went into defense goods before the Korean outbreak and about 11 per cent is now going into rearmament. They estimate that 20 per cent will be absorbed by defense needs by the middle of next year. The latter figure compares with 50 per cent of national production devoted to war needs during World War II.

GAP EXPECTED

As the expenditures for defense goods grow and the supply of consumer goods diminishes, the council explained, an "inflationary gap" of $15,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 can be expected to develop between the amount consumers have to spend and the quantity of goods available.

Only sharp increases in taxes, greatly increased emphasis on personal savings and the strict price, wage and consumer credit controls advocated by the administration can help keep the economy in proper balance, it was argued.

On the subject of savings, President Truman announced that the Treasury Department will begin a "full-scale bond campaign" on Labor Day designed to reach "into every community and every home in the nation."

Measured in terms of prices prevailing in the first half of this year, the council's report said, the annual rate of gross national product at mid-year was in the neighborhood of $330,000,000,000, or about 10 percent above the level of a year ago.

OUTPUT INCREASE

"Measured in terms of this same price level," the report continued, "it now appears that we should be able to increase total output by 5 percent or more during the coming 12 months, bringing the gross national product to an annual rate of over $345,000,000,000 by the middle of 1952.

"Over the following year the opportunities for further growth will probably diminish somewhat as resources are brought into fuller use. But it should be feasible also to realize during that period a further increase of at least 4 percent in total output. Thus, over the next two years, we should be able to increase total output at least twice as fast as we did during the period from 1946 through the first half of 1950."

In his message the President pressed again for congressional approval of his request for $8,500,000,000 for foreign military and economic aid. He said it would be a "military disaster" to lose vital materials produced by friendly countries. He said that the foreign outlay will require only 2 percent of total production and 15 percent of total security outlays.

Father Admits Slaying His 3 Children

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., July 23—(AP)—Police received a telephone call here late Monday from a 39-year-old shipping clerk, who blurted:

"I've killed my three children."

When officers arrived at the two-story house where Raymond Wilson Conley lived with his mother, they found:

Eighteen-month-old William Emery Conley lying in his crib, dead of a slashed throat; three-year-old Wilson Lee Conley on the floor, shot in the stomach; and three-month-old Linda Sue Conley stretched out on a bed, her throat cut severely.

Wilson and Linda were rushed to University Hospital, where attendants Monday night described their condition as critical.

Police said Conley, who was charged with murder, signed a statement admitting he tried to kill the three children because he'd had no one to look after them since he and his wife separated June 27.

Take Me Out to the Bawl Game

While Atlanta's tears forced their way through fevered brows and trickled off down the chest, some tears of distinction were being shed in our industry last week. Mickey Mantle curled up and wept in New York City, and old folks Jersey Joe Walcott had himself a cry in Pittsburgh. But the provoking emotions were miles apart.

Kid Mantle had been told he had lost his big league fight with the Yankees. The water was too deep for him, and he'd go back to Kansas City for a fresh running start. The disappointment crushed the young fellow, who is just about the average age of the fraternity pledge, and he couldn't fight back the tears. Walcott had unbelievably become the world's heavyweight boxing champion after five challenges and 37 years of living. The impact of joy and shock combined squeezed the tears out of his ring-scarred face as he tried to describe his joy for television.

Bisher

Danny Murtaugh, a Pittsburgh infielder who has known the utter dispair that comes of contributing toward cellar finishes with both the Phillies and Pirates, spoke out for Master Mantle.

"I've been playing for 15 years," he said, "and I have yet to see a guy smile when he got his release."

Tears and the spit-in-the-devil's-eye guy who faces bullet pitches, pulverizing tackles, blackout fists and addling pressure don't fit in the same picture, and yet they do. Tears have been a part of the business of playing to win since the Chinese had their first egg roll.

I've read the story over and over again of Babe Ruth and how he fought the tears as he cleaned out his locker for the last time with the Boston Braves in 1935. He was still a bellicose Babe then, unshriveled from the disease that was to cut him down. To him, that was the end then and there.

And there was his Yankee teammate, and yet not a friend until the day they stood with arms about one other and wept openly before thousands in Yankee Stadium. The most moving film I'll ever see threw Lou Gehrig on the screen in a newsreel as New York gave him his big day. The sound track popped and crackled like thunder and lightning as the Iron Horse paused and broke into tears before the microphone. It tore your heart apart.

Neely Was a Sobbing Monster

By some quaint reversal of capitalistic form, the crying athlete is more commonly associated with the college try. This was true years before the dollar replaced the block letter as male youth's primary goal.

Jess Neely has not been one to emote about the premises since he turned coach at Clemson and Rice. But as captain of the Vanderbilt football team he laid the dust with his tears as the Commodores dedicated Dudley Field against Michigan in 1922. The ordinarily stoical Neely was a raging monster who stormed down the field dissecting startled Wolverines with vicious blocks and tackles, all the while blubbering like a lost waif. The occasion of a dedication and a game with the alma mater of his beloved coach, Dan McGugin, had touched him deeply.

There was the odd case at New Orleans last Fall of tears for both winner and loser as Tulane lost a bitter fight to Notre Dame by four points. Tulane had every right to an honorable bawl and Henry Frnka had his as choked-up students hauled him around on their shoulders.

Over in the Notre Dame dressing room Quarterback Bob Williams led the Irish in a series of sobs of pain both physical and mental. They were quite shaken at their narrow escape. They didn't know there were to be more, and frequently even defeat.

For Bevens the Tears Came Late

Some of the most ornery hellions have evolved into the most soulful weepers when finally their iron disposition has been broken down. On the walls of a minor league club in another part of the South hangs a picture of Ellis Clary as he sobbed brokenly over the flight of a pennant that he and his team had blown by .001 of a percentage point. Emotionally Ellis was usually quicker with his fists, but in this case there was nothing to fight back at him.

Aaron Robinson, a bull-backed South Carolinian, collapsed in the Detroit dugout and bellowed until the tears wouldn't come last September. He had forgotten to tag Bob Lemon who crossed the plate with the winning run as the Tigers struggled to stay in the pennant battle.

Brutish Bob Gain joined with the more artistic Babe Parilli in a small cry after Kentucky had been taken again by Tennessee on an Arctic Saturday last November. There was no tougher tackle than Gain, but there was no more subdued animal than he as he followed a cameraman out of the Wildcat dressing room to pose for All-America pictures.

Then there was the fellow who didn't cry, but who had a license to weep the Hudson full. Cookie Lavagetto had busted up his no-hitter and strung him up in defeat with two out in the ninth in the hectic 1947 World Series, but Floyd Bevens stood in the Yankee dressing room, passively answered questions and stared at nothing. It was beyond the reach of tears.

He didn't begin to cry until the next Spring had come. It was then that tragedy nailed him below the belt. He'd also pitched his arm away that day.

Chisox Buy Ex-Cracker Rivera for Over $50,000

SEATTLE, July 23—(AP)—Jim Rivera, Seattle Rainiers' freshman outfielder and formerly of the Atlanta Crackers in the Southern Association, has been sold to the Chicago White Sox for "more than $50,000, all cash," General Manager Earl Sheely of the Rainiers disclosed Monday.

Sheely said that the White Sox are exercising their option on Rivera immediately instead of waiting until September. The outfielder will remain with Seattle for the rest of the season, however.

Jim Rivera

The orignial deal on Rivera was announced shortly after a visit here earlier this Summer by Frank Lane, general manager of the White Sox. It was disclosed then that Chicago had until Sept. 1 to exercise its option. White Sox scouts have kept the hard-driving outfielder under frequent inspection ever since.

He is hitting .343 through Sunday's games, including 12 home runs, 24 doubles and 11 triples, and has 79 runs-batted-in and 30 stolen bases.

Rivera was drafted from Pensacola last Winter on the recommendation of Rogers Hornsby, Rainiers' manager.

Dodgers Peddle Bankhead, Get Labine

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Dan Bankhead, big Negro pitcher who has been a disappointment to the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers, was sold to Montreal in the International League Monday.

To replace him, the Dodgers brought up Clem Labine, Montreal right handed pitcher with an 8-6 record.

Bankhead has pitched only 13 innings this year. In his last two appearances he allowed 14 runs and 16 hits in a total of seven innings.

Hurth Axe Stuns Dixie, Whit Again

Walker Expected Reinstatement

By JESSE OUTLAR

Dixie Walker was lower than the last place Chattanooga Lookouts, with whom the Crackers open a three-game series Tuesday night, when he learned Monday that Southern Association Pres. Charlie Hurth had pulled the 90-day trigger again.

"I sincerely believed I'd be reinstated," Walker said when informed by The Constitution that Hurth refused to lift the ban. "This is really a blow to me. I was sure I'd be with the boys in the Chattanooga series."

Of course, Dixie won't be around when the Crackers board a bus for the Mountain City Tuesday afternoon. In fact, he won't even be at spring training next year unless Minor League Pres. George Trautman overrules Hurth.

Whit Wyatt was enjoying the Cracker off day in Buchanan when he got the jolt. He had planned on retiring to the comparative calm of the coaching box in Chattanooga, but he's still the acting manager.

"I don't know if my nerves can stand the rest of the season," Whit said. "It's sure different without Dixie, and I was positive he'd be back."

Mrs. Wyatt chimed in that Whit might last, but she wouldn't unless the Crackers started winning.

Most of the players agreed with Dix and Whit. They were convinced that Hurth wouldn't throw the bean ball twice.

With or without Walker, the Crackers must buckle down immediately if they hope to reach the play-offs. Another flop in Chattanooga and they'll be cemented in the second division.

Howard Anderson, who has been a victor only once since June 17, gets the opening call against the Lookouts. A finisher once in his last seven starts, Andy is looking for number 11. He holds two decisions over the Lookouts who stamped him with one of his eight defeats.

Atlanta has a 4-4 record at Engel Stadium, and boasts a 9-6 edge with the cellarites for the season.

Suspension Of Walker Unchanged

fact that had to be established was whether in my judgment the forfeiture was necessary and whether there possibly could have been any alternative.

"If I could have established that it was an unjust forfeiture it certainly would have been a very easy matter to handle, for definitely no penalty would have been inflicted on Manager Walker.

"Can this forfeiture of a ball game be taken so lightly that no suspension whatsoever be attached to it?

"I definitely thought not; I still think it cannot be absolved with a suspension."

Mann, who has delved into the issue thoroughly, feels that Hurth should have held a hearing instead of abiding by Umpire Paul Roy's report entirely.

Mann has contacted impartial onlookers, who gave him a report bearing little resemblance to Roy's account. In fact, several Mobile fans have written Mann offering to testify at a hearing.

Mann and Attorney Hughes Spalding, who is handling the legal details, will ask Trautman to overrule Hurth. Atlanta's appeal, of course, is already in Trautman's Columbus, Ohio, office.

Should Trautman side with Hurth, Mann will carry the case to the minor league executive committee. His last resort is the major league executive council, now that there is no baseball commissioner.

"We are convinced that Dixie is right, and will fight this thing to the end," Mann said. "I've never heard of such an unjust suspension since I've been in baseball. Walker is a man of proven integrity, and it's a shame that an umpire can mar his career in this manner."

The disputed play took place in the eighth inning of the second game of a double-header at Mobile.

Mobile's Don Nicholas, scoring on a wild throw to second, collided with Atlanta Catcher Roy Jarvis, and Umpire Roy ruled obstruction moments later after making a dual decision.

Indians Option Fahr, Purchase Maddern

CLEVELAND, July 23— (AP)—The Cleveland Indians announced Monday the purchase of Clarence Maddern, 29-year-old outfielder, from San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

To make room for Maddern, the Indians optioned Gerald (Red) Fahr, a rookie pitcher, to Ottawa of the International League.

Maddern is currently batting .311 and ranks third in his league's run-batted-in department with 74.

Richards Benches Robinson for Haas

'Big Four' of AL Scramble Start Free-for-All Today

CHICAGO, July 23—(UP)—Manager Paul Richards plans to bench star first baseman Eddie Robinson and shake up other parts of his lineup in an attempt to get the faltering Chicago White Sox back into the American League pennant race.

Bert Haas, recent 37-year-old acquisition from the West Coast, will take over first base in the opener of a crucial road trip for the Sox at Boston Tuesday.

Richards said Haas "will get a good chance to show us what he's got."

Robinson, whose once-potent bat sparked the Sox to the top in the league race, has slumped since the all-star game. The Sox brain trust figures he needs a rest.

Richards said that Orestes Minoso, league leading hitter who has been alternating between the infield and the outfield, will settle down at third base. Don Lenhardt will move to left field and rapidly-recovering Al Zarilla to right.

Sox officials indicated that drastic action was needed after the team played a disastrous home stand climaxed by four straight losses to the sixth-place Washington Senators.

The four top contenders—New York, Boston, Cleveland and Chicago—start clawing away at each other Tuesday and continue to hack away right through Sunday in seven games that may decide the American League pennant.

Tuesday afternoon brings together the league-leading New York Yankees and the runner-up Cleveland Indians in the first of three daylight tilts with first place definitely at stake. Boston's Red Sox, tied with Cleveland for second place, wait until dusk to take on fourth-place Chicago.

On Friday, the teams switch. Chicago moves to New York for a four-game series, and the Indian travel to Boston for a three-game set.

The Yankees are encouraged by the prospect of a 17-game stay at Yankee Stadium where they've won 27 and lost only nine. Also, the arrival of the Indians always seems to spur the Yankees to greatness—at least at the Stadium.

The Tribe, however, is the hottest club in the league right now. Led by the redoubtable Bob Feller, the Indians have won 22 of their last 27 and eight of their last nine.

The Yankees, handicapped by the absence of Joe DiMaggio on the entire road trip, may have the old jolter back in the lineup.

"I think I'll play Tuesday," DiMaggio told newsmen. "I'm not sure I'll play, but I hope so. The leg doesn't seem to bother me now when I take batting or fielding practice."

Manager Casey Stengel has his big three primed for the Indians. Tuesday he will start Vic Raschi (13-6). He will be opposed by Early Wynn (10-9). On Wednesday it will be Ed Lopat against Mike Garcia. Allie Reynolds for New York and Bob Feller for Cleveland will close out the series.

Mathews Clouts Four-Run Homer For Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, July 23—(AP)—Milwaukee rookie Ed Mathews picked the right time for his first American Association hit Sunday. In as a pinch hitter, the former Atlanta Cracker slammed a bases-full home run in the sixth inning of the finale of a doubleheader to enable the Brewers to whip Minneapolis, 6-2.

Bums' Rush In Ninth Tops Athletics, 9-4

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., July 23. (AP)—The National League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers broke loose in the ninth inning of the annual Hall of Fame baseball game on Doubleday Field Monday, overpowering the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-4, on a pair of two-run homers by Carl Furillo and Cal Abrams.

Up to this point Joe Coleman held the Dodgers fairly well in check except for the second inning when he personally gave them three runs by issuing six bases on balls.

Erv Palica, Brooklyn right-hander who was accused last week by Manager Chuck Dressen of lack of courage, went the first six innings, holding the Athletics to five hits. Phil Haugstad went in for him in the seventh and was given credit for the victory.

Duke Snider of the Dodgers contributed a homer in the fifth over the rightfield bleachers. Four-baggers come easy in this cozy, neat little park in the town where baseball began in 1839. The field was swarming with small children today and there were 9,029 paid admissions.

Teams Meet In Amateur Loop Series

Dick's Sport Shop, Fulton County Junior Amateur League champion, will compete in a Shaughnessy play-off with the other first division clubs to determine which team will represent Atlanta in the National Amateur championships at Louisville, Ky., Aug. 22-26.

The Atlanta play-offs will be held at Center Hill, Saturday, July 28, Sunday, July 29, and Saturday, Aug. 4. Final game is slated for Ponce de Leon Park, Aug. 5.

Dick's Sport Shop finished the season with an enviable 14-0 record. Pitchers David Redford and Frank Tippett won five games apiece while Al Cogbill had four victories. Redford and Cogbill are former Decatur High players, and Tippett is an ex-O'Keefe hurler.

Teen-Age Golfers Challenge In State Men's Amateur Meet

Youth Primed for Elders at Druid Hills; Macon's Blum Tabbed as Favorite Again

By BERT PRATHER

It probably would be going a bit too far to predict that a teen-age golfer will win this year's State Men's Amateur starting Tuesday at Druid Hills Golf Club, but don't be surprised if several of them make the championship flight in Tuesday's 18-hole qualifying.

Such junior aces as Frank Stevenson, Jr., winner over his elders in the '51 Golden Isle tournament at Brunswick; Cecil Calhoun, the 16-year-old upsetter from Professor Fred Haskins' Columbus School of Golf; Billy Blair, Americus; city junior champ Gene Hay and Larry McCrary of Augusta Country Club are all capable of cutting down some of the most experienced players who have high hopes of going places in President Hugh Carter's latest golfing party.

Gaillard

Granting they are a few years away from real championship possibilities, they are sure to make their presence felt here. Of the group, Calhoun, the kid who lives on the edge of Columbus Country Club course and practically grew up under Haskins' elbow, appears to have the best chance of upsetting the old guard.

The Columbus Kid, upsetter of State Champion Dick Hackett of Rome two years ago in the first round of the State at Radium Country Club and a sensation in this year's Southern Amateur with a 19-hole victory over favored George Hamer and a heart-breaking 18th hole loss to top-notcher Jack Key Jr., may have tipped his hand Monday afternoon at Druid Hills. Playing a final practice round, Cecil trimmed five strokes off par with a 34-33—67. That's the best warm-up effort yet and proves the Kid can be tough even at his tender age.

North-South champ Hobart Manley, Jr., working out for the first time here since losing to Tommy Barnes in the Dogwood Invitation, posted a 37-33—70 to stamp himself as a serious title contender. He birdied the last three holes.

Gene Gaillard, Druid Hills' chief hope since Barnes has withdrawn from everything except Tuesday's qualifying and team play, matched Manley's score. McCrary was one under with a 71. Blair reported a 74 as did Stevenson. Hay posted a two over 74.

Hamer, winner of the '47 title and making his first bid in three years, carved out a comfortable 37-35—72. Other good final practice rounds were: Ralph Barnes, 72; Gordon Clay, 71; Bill Leide, 73; Dan Garson, 75; Carling Dinkler, Jr., 75; Max Smith, 75; Frank Mulherin, 71, and Gummy Harison 72.

Defending champion Arnold Blum of Macon, remains a solid favorite. Exercising his rights as defending titlist, Arnold will pass up Tuesday's qualifying, but will check in for a practice round late in the afternoon.

Tuesday's qualifying will set up five divisions of 32 each for Wednesday's first round of match play. Low 31 will be grouped with Blum to make up the championship division.

In adition to the chase for medalist prize, the team championship also will be at stake Tuesday.

Braves Beat Bucs, 15-14, As Kiner Clouts 25th

PITTSBURGH, July 23—(AP)—The Boston Braves beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 15-14, Monday night in a 34-hit slugfest that was spotted with four home runs including Ralph Kiner's 25th of the season. Bill Paine, third of four Brave pitchers, got credit for the win.

Boston won the game in the eighth on a single run but the twice-tied contest ran over with thrills before that.

Boston started off with a bang—scoring seven runs in the first. The Pirates came back and pushed over six tallies.

Walker Cooper drove a three-run homer into the Pirate bull pen for the Braves and Joe Garagiola accounted for two of the Pirates' first-inning runs with his seventh homer of the year.

Both teams sent every player to the plate at least once in the opening frame. Boston scored twice more in the second.

The Pirates made it an 11-all contest in the fifth then forged ahead in the sixth with a three-run splurge. George Strickland's three-run triple did the work.

Boston came back in the seventh. Earl Torgeson's homer with one on tied it at 14-all.

Kiner got his 25th of the season in the third in a lead-off role.

A crowd of 8,112 paid customers saw the Pirates open a 14-game home stand.

Tennesseean Defends Title In Junior Play

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 23—(AP) Mason Rudolph, 17-year-old defending champion from Clarkesville, Tenn., looks like the man to beat in the fourth annual USGA Junior Amateur golf tournament.

The tourney opens Wednesday over the new University of Illinois golf course with 128 competitors.

Rudolph was one of three juniors to qualify for the recent National Open and was second in the Junior in 1949 as a 15-year-old. He won the Junior last year.

But this time out he faces a field which includes Don Displinghoff of Orlando, Fla., a quarter-finalist last year, and a National Open qualifier; Bob McAlister, National Open qualifier from San Gabriel, Calif., and Bill Wolfe of Rockville, Md., who was a semi-finalist in the 1950 Junior.

The lowest qualifying score of the 127 who survived district competition last week was a two-under-par 70 produced by Donnie Lee Robinson of Lexington, Ky. Jim Powell of San Antonio shot a 69 but withdrew from the competition, Mason automatically qualified.

Conference Commissioners Ask De-Emphasis of College Sports

'Undesirable Trends' Cause Leaders To Call For Schedule Curtailments, Curbs on Practice

By FRANK PITMAN

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 23—(AP)—Recognizing "undesirable trends in intercollegiate athletics," commissioners of the nation's ten major athletic conferences called Monday for de-emphasis of college sports.

The National Association of Collegiate Commissioners said these undesirable trends were impairing "the ideal of college athletics as a healthy activity outlet for the students."

The statement added there has developed "a regimented program of such intensity in the training of athletic techniques, as to overshadow the student-status of the player."

The commissioners urged that public, alumni, and others recognize "that the continued existence of college athletics depends upon the maintenance of a sane and sound balance in the life of the student athlete under which he must be a student primarily and an athlete incidentally."

Specifically, the commissioners recommended: "1. Definite restrictions upon, or eliminating of out of season practice in all sports, particularly Spring practice in football and basketball.

"2. Curtailment of sports schedules to a more limited number of games, and to the avoidance of overlapping of seasons in the various major sports.

"3. The preservation of institutional control of athletics free from the interference of outside pressures, including those of alumni or other groups."

The association is made up of the commissioners of these conferences: The Eastern, Western (Big Ten), the Big Seven, Southern, Southeastern, Southwestern, Missouri Valley, Mountain States (Sky Line Eight), Border, and Pacific Coast.

The statement, adopted at the annual meeting at the Broadmoor Hotel here, said that the undesirable trends in intercollegiate sports included:

1. Prolonged period of out-of-season practice in the various sports. It said these had reached "such excesses as even to include out-of-season competition under the guise of practice."

2. Increasing number of games.

3. Development of "such specialization of the student athlete in the techniques of the various sports, as to interfere with the basic concept of athletic activity and only an incidental part of college life and experience."

4. Disproportionate pressures which are building up in college athletics generally and on the student athlete in particular.

The commissioners urged "that these and similar developments and abuses be promptly arrested." They recommended that "the colleges take steps again to bring athletic activity into proper perspective and balance in relationship with the academic and other phases of college life."

The commissioners also recommended to the National Collegiate Athletic Association that freshmen be permitted during the next academic year to compete in NCAA events.

Benton Departs For Swim Meet

Atlanta's Gail Benton was scheduled to leave here early Tuesday morning for Detroit, Mich., where she will compete in the national low and high board national diving championships.

Miss Benton, the nation's fourth-ranking low and high-board diver, is Southeastern indoor and outdoor champ, Southeastern scholastic titleholder, and holds Heart of Georgia and Southern Peach crowns.

She will compete in the 1951 Havalanta meet for the third consecutive year, Aug. 14-18 in Havana, Cuba.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Bob Murphy Rocks Rindone to Sleep Early

Condensed From Constitution Wire Reports

Irish Bob Murphy, slugging southpaw light-heavyweight from San Diego, Cal., needed only five rounds to stow away Boston's Joe Rindone in a scheduled 10-round bout Monday night at Braves Field, Boston.

Murphy's finishing punch was a terrific left hook to the head that dropped Rindone for the full count at 2:02 in the fifth. Until this blow the skillful Rindone, 11¼ pounds lighter than the Irishman, was a few points behind. Rindone was winner over Murphy by a foul in six rounds in Boston three months ago. The Coast slugger is scheduled for a crack at Joey Maxim's light heavyweight title next month.

The case against Ezzard Charles' co-manager Jake Mintz, suspended for arguing about the judges prior to the start of the Charles-Walcott fight at Pittsburgh, may be aired before the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission earlier than the scheduled date of August 7, according to John B. Holahan, Pittsburgh district commissioner. He has asked for the hearing to be held as soon as possible.

Phil Cavarretta, new manager of the Chicago Cubs, says the club has more than a fair chance of finishing in the National League's first division. "We must hustle to get there," Phil said as the team arrived home for a 25-game home stand.

Louise Fowler of Covington, Ga., second seeded player in the Eastern States clay court tennis championships, breezed through the first round with the loss of only one game. She disposed of 16-year-old Mary Whitaker of Philadelphia. Evelyn Cowan, also of Covington, and Miss Fowler's doubles partner, moved forward by defeating Mrs. Jeanne McIntosh, of Idle Hour, Pa., 6-0, 6-4. Evelyn is third seeded in the Philadelphia meet.

The twenty-first birthday of night baseball will be celebrated at Des Moines, Iowa, Tuesday night with some of the game's big-wigs on hand. Designated as "Night Baseball Night," the event will salute the late E. Lee Keyser who arranged the first after-dark experiment which made baseball history May 2, 1930.

Jerry Hunt of College Park, Ga., defeated Keith Fort of Chattanooga, 6-4, 6-2, in the opening round of the Tennessee State tennis tournament Monday at Chattanooga.

The Fayette County holdings of the late Samuel D. Riddle were valued at $1,004,475 Monday at Lexington, Ky. Riddle owned famous Man O' War and Faraway Farm. Riddle died last January.

Addition of a pair of Tulane gridders—Tackle Don Joyce and Guard Dennis Doyle—completed the 60-man collegiate all-star team which will meet the champion Cleveland Browns of the National League at Soldiers Field, Chicago, Aug. 17. The All-Stars will meet for their first practice under Coach Herman Hickman of Yale, Thursday at Delafield, Wis.

Bears Blast Chicks, 20-9

MOBILE, Ala., July 23—(AP)—The Mobile Bears, boasting the most anemic team batting mark in the Southern Association, belied the figures here Monday night, crashing out 19 base hits to defeat the Memphis Chicks, 20-9, in a frenetic fracas that saw 18 bases on balls, eight errors and a total of 30 hits posted in the record books.

Fred Postolese, Don Nicholas and Wayne Belardi got three hits apiece in pacing the Bears' greatest onslaught of the season. One of Belardi's blows was the only home run of the night.

ALL WORK AND LITTLE PLAY—That rough(ly) was the menu as the fourth annual Georgia football coaching clinic opened in Athens Monday. At top (left to right), former Bulldogs Joe Geri, all-pro back with the Pittsburgh Steelers; Frankie Sinkwich, 1942 All-America, and Rose Bowl fullback Andy Dudish line up for action as Johnny Rauch, New York Yanks, and Charlie Trippi, Chicago Cards, go into a double quarterback act behind Center Bill Chonko, ex-Bulldog who now coaches Atlanta Fulton High. Lower left, backfield mentor Bill Hartman demonstrates a block on Winder's Howard (Doc) Ayers as "pupils" scrutinize proper form. At right, an open air classroom section begins under the trees. Clinic will continue at the University Tuesday.

Bulldogs Sign Ex-Wolfpack Star, John Huzbar

ATHENS, July 23—John Huzbar, former fullback star at North Caroline State and Pittsburgh University, has signed a grant-in-aid at Georgia . . . but he won't be eligible until 1952.

Huzbar is six feet four inches tall and weighs 250 pounds. His family's decision to move to Gainesville, Ga., prompted him to seek out Coach Wallace Butts.

In 1946, at Hershey, Pa., Huzbar was considered the outstanding fullback prospect in the country. As a freshman at North Carolina State in 1947, he was regular fullback. He entered the Marine Corps and was discharged in 1949. He served the required year of residence at Pitt, was called back again to the Marine Corps, was recently discharged and decided to enroll at Georgia.

He now must serve a year of residence at Georgia.—POPE.

Sox' Minoso Grabs Lead In AL Race

CHICAGO, July 23—(AP)—Orestes "Minnie" Minoso, flashy Cuban jack-of-all-trades for the Chicago White Sox, took over the American League batting lead in official figures released Monday.

Minoso kept up a blistering pace for a .344 average.

He was 10 points above his nearest rival, Ferris Fain, Philadelphia first sacker, who had .334. Third was Gil Coan, Washington outfielder, with .331.

Bobbie Avila, fleet Cleveland second baseman, took over fourth with .329. The Mexican infielder hit safely 16 times in 34 trips during the week.

Ellis Kinder of Boston and Morrie Martin of Philadelphia lead pitchers with equal records of six won and one loss for averages of .857, but Bob Feller added two victories during the week for a 14-3 record, and an average of .824.

Robinson, Ashburn Threat to Musial

NEW YORK, July 23—(AP)—Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson is closing in again on St. Louis' Stan Musial in the National League batting race. And Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn threatens to make it a three-way race down to the wire.

Robinson picked up steam during the past week, clouting 11 hits in 20 trips to boost his average to .363. He picked up 10 points Musial, still the pace-setter with a fancy .371. Stan the Man fell off two points with nine hits in 26 chances. Averages include games of Sunday.

Ashburn, second a week ago, fell to third under Robinson's torrid comeback. The Philly outfielder, however, moved his mark up one point, from .359 to .360 on 14 hits in 38 tries.

Tillitski To Coach At Ft. Pierce, Fla.

ATHENS, July 23—John Tillitski, former University of Georgia fullback, has lit on Ft. Pierce, Fla., to begin his coaching career.

Tillitski, 23, and a native of Canton, Ohio, said Monday he decided to take a post as football, basketball and baseball assistant at the Florida school "for my hay fever." He was troubled through his 1948, '49 and '50 Georgia seasons with the debilitating effects of the malady.

Earlier, Tillitski negotiated with Savannah High and announced affiliation with Atlanta's Fulton High.

COACHING CLINIC

Bulldog Gridders Expect To Use 30 Percent Split-T Plays in '51

By EDWIN POPE

ATHENS, July 23—Though the weather is more like icing it, Georgia is splitting its "T." The Bulldogs are going down the line this Fall with the college football trend to keep one hop ahead of the ever-persistant defense and expect to use some 30 percent split "T" during the 1951 season.

Wallace Butts, cherubic-faced Georgia skipper, made that clear Monday morning, opening the fourth annual Georgia Coaching Clinic with a football lecture.

"The defenses are improving so fast that we are forced to vary our offense," Butts said. "We used a good bit last year but mixed it up so much that few fans noticed. We think we have at least one competent split-T quarterback in Mal Cook, who is a good runner."

Butts pointed out that the Bulldogs actually used an entire quarter—the third—of split-T stuff in its inaugural stomping of Maryland last fall.

Butts' pungent verbal dissertation opened a three-day session attracting roughly 150 high school and prep coaches to the shade trees fringing Sanford Stadium. (Bragged Athletic Publicity Director Dan Magill, Jr.: "We have the only Summer clinic complete with outdoor shade and cooling breezes from a (tanyard) creek."

When Butts gave up the ball, Sterling Dupree took it into a T-quarterback lecture. Rounding out the day's talks were Bill Hartman, on offensive backfield play; Harry Wright, center play; Perron Shoemaker, end play; Harbin (Red) Lawson, basketball, and E. R. Smith, physical education.

THE BRIEFCASE: Thirty-six Georgia graduates were among early registrants. Butts has exactly twice that many spreading his gridiron gospel through high schools and colleges. . . . Gus (Vassa Cate of Waycross, Georgia's great old hurler-halfback, showed up with a dislocated shoulder, blushed, admitted he got it sliding a shoot-the-chute in a swimming pool. . . . Tripartite "Dean's Group" of the coaches was Shorty Doyal of Marist, Roy Brewer of Hapeville and Dickie Butler of Columbus High. . . .

Fireball Frank Sinkwich, now of Tampa U., was in town, looking remodelled. A balloonish 240 when he left an Athens beer distributing business two years ago, Sinky's down to 205. . . . He's working out daily with pros Johnny Rauch (New York Yanks), Charlie Trippi (Chicago Cardinals), and Joe Geri (Pittsburgh Steelers), the latter still a holdout. . . . The lettuce crop ain't what it used to be in pro ball. . . . He-Who-Hesitates-Etc., Dept.: Billy Henderson ruefully recalled that a year ago he turned down an offer to become head coach at Jefferson High to play pro ball. Now he's going to Jefferson as assistant to John (Stooge) Davis. . . . More proof that the best players don't always make the best teachers is in Red Camp, Douglasville football and basketball emissary picking up pointers at the clinic. He never made the basketball squad at Georgia, never even played football, but has tasted unusual success in coaching. . . . Lem Clark, former Lanier coach, visited. He's an Army officer. . . . Georgia backfield aide Sterling Dupree founding himself lecturing once again to Bo Hagan and Bruce Tate. Dupree coached them both at the University of South Carolina. Now Dupe's a Bulldog backfield aide, Hagan is the new O'Keefe football boss and Tate is coaching at Allendale, S. C. . . . Billy Mixon starts his coaching as Mike Castronis' assistant at Hogansville under a unique handicap. The school building burned down. . . . Fitzgerald Coach Mel Bray announced that he has acquired Harold Stephenson, former Duke end of Elizabethton, Tenn., as his assistant coach in football, basketball and baseball. . . .

Winder High Adds To Athletic Staff

ATHENS, July 23—Ralph Simmons, a Piedmont College graduate, and Joseph Edwards, University of Georgia, are being added to the Winder High School athletic staff.

Winder Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Howard (Doc) Ayers, here Monday for the Georgia coaching clinic, said Simmons would be assistant football and baseball coach. Edwards will help with basketball.

Simmons, 28, is a former Toccoa High and Darlington prep grid standout and played in service with Fourth Air Force.

The Passing Show

Eighty-eight straw hat theatres are in full Summer stock blast in New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maine and Rhode Island. Performers, young and old, will tell you they have more fun on these Summer binges than at any other time of the year. Most of the Summer theatres are in or near resort towns, most of them near oceans or lakes, so the strolling players finally approximate a normal life. Gone, for about eight weeks, is the necessity of eating lunches in drug stores; gone is the problem of getting to sleep in a roasting theatrical hotel on a sizzling sidestreet of a sweltering Broadway. Substituted for neon lights are honest-to-goodness stars and a moon shimmering across miles of tumbling, cool waves, with only the occasional mooing of a cow to scare city slickers.

Claudette Colbert takes a flier in Summer stock at Westport, Conn., this month. I asked her to recall her first Broadway appearance: "That's easy. Christmas night, 1924, at the Frazee Theatre in 'The Wild Westcotts,' Max Gordon's first play. I had one line: 'It was so lovely —the garden is very beautiful—I am so hungry.' I was 17 years old, and the week's check was incredible. A neighborhood pal, Helen Hacket, got me the job. She and I had an unusual business arrangement in return for my teaching her to speak French, she offered to teach me art. In P.S. 16 in New York, and later in Washington Irving High School, I had taken art so I could become a commercial artist and help support the family. You see, we'd come from Paris, and we didn't have any too much money."

Claudette Colbert

I asked her if any one person had contributed more to her career than another: "Uh-huh, Frank Capra. He directed me in the first picture I ever made at the Cosmopolitan Studios in New York. That would be 1927, while I was playing in 'The Barker' with Walter Huston. The picture was a silent, called 'For the Love of Mike,' a college rowing story. On a cold, chilly morning, Frank assembled us on the banks of the Harlem River for the rowing race sequence. I'll never forget it. I had on a pink dress, 1927 collegiate model, and I stood on that damn river bank and waved my handkerchief to the hero, Ben Lyon, who was dying for Dear Old Yale out on the Harlem. Ford Sterling and George Sidney saved all of us by going to a restaurant, half a mile distant, for hot coffee. Capra, even then,, was a fine director, as he'd proved with the Harry Langdon picture. Eight years later, Frank was to direct me in 'It Happened One Night,' which won me the Academy award; he should have taken my medal because I did exactly what he suggested."

The straw-hat circuit produced Henry Fonda. Playing in Summer stock at Surrey, Maine, in 1932, Fonda's duties consisted of driving the New York actors, and their trunks, from the railroad station to the barnyard playhouse. He got $15 a week.

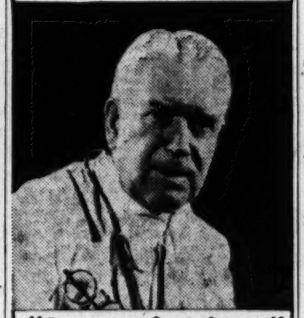

The company scene-painter got burned at the company manager and quit, flinging paint brush and bucket of paint at his foeman. Fonda suggested, weakly, that he could paint, so he got the job and proved so economical with paint that the manager recommended him to the straw-hat theatre at Mount Kisco, N. Y., where he won the chance to play a bit in "The Swan" with Geoffrey Kerr, husband of June Walker.

When June saw the gangling, earthy kid at Mount Kisco, she recommended him to author Marc Connelly as the ideal type to play opposite her in "The Farmer's Wife," which she was to do on Broadway that Fall. She sent Fonda to see Connelly, and in fear and trembling, he went to the Gotham Hotel to meet the great man.

Playright Connelly, who'll admit cheerfully that he'd rather be an actor than a writer, suggested that he'd read a few pages of the script to Fonda, "just to give you the feel of it." To the amazement of Fonda, Connelly not only read a few pages, he read the entire play. Each time Marc would come to a dramatic or humorous point, he'd look meaningly at Fonda, who, thus cued, would either look tense or burst into applause. "You have a real sense of theatre," Marc would say approvingly. Connelly took two hours to read and act out his lines, so he never did hear Fonda read a single page.

"You see May Gordon tomorrow and he'll sign you," said Connelly. "How much money do you want?" Fonda, whose salary had ranged from $15 to $35 a week, said he didn't know what to ask. . . . Connelly leaned over to him confidently: "Ask him for $200 a week, and don't take a cent less." So Fonda got his Broadway break by listening to an author read a play, and the author got him a salary he never would have dared to ask.

Questions and Answers

THROWBACK PHOBIA

Friend married to man who has some colored blood—his mother was white, father colored. They have two children with no features of a colored person. Should the children be told now that they have colored blood, or would it be better to wait until they become older. Would they be likely to have colored children? (XX.)

Answer—A typical anonymous question. The children's children will be less Negroid in features and color than the parent who has a fraction of colored blood. The notion of a throwback is sheer superstition. Nothing of the sort ever happens in the human family.

MOST EVERY DAY ILLNESS

Have you stated that three-fourths of all illness attended by doctors are colds or the consequences of colds? (D. C. W.)

Answer—No. Three-fourths of the sickness attended by doctors is from respiratory infection. Send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet CALL IT CRI.

USE BLUNT SCISSORS

In the past year or two the hairs inside my nostrils have grown so long that they become irritating. I have carefully cut them with scissors. But isn't there a better way? (M. R.)

Answer—No. Use blunt scissors. Pulling them out may result in serious infection.

TELL ME

Kindly tell me what causes allergy and what can be done. (E. M. G.)

Answer—I'll be happy to tell you and the world if I ever stumble upon the cause. For the present I can only offer suggestions of palliative or preventive treatment. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet RELIEF FROM ALLERGY.

ENTITY?

I'd like to know if you are really a person or just a newspaper column. (Mrs. T. L. G.)

Answer—Not half, I'm afraid. Or, seven days a week, maybe it would average one-third of a column. I submit the same amount of copy for daily and Sunday as I have submitted for years. How much shall be printed the editors determine.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Mail request to Dr. Brady, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Film on Golf Shots Set for 6:30 P. M.

Are your golf shots going astray? Does that incurable slice cause you to go wading on the water holes? Does your head fly up like a jack in the box when the clubhead approaches the ball?

Duffers, you will find delight in a new film featurette entitled "Nine Bad Shots of Golf" which will be presented on WSB-TV at 6:30 p. m.

Most weekend golfers have found these "tips" don't improve their golf game, but provide food for thought.

Two shows are on tap for Tuesday night which should provide interesting viewing. They're Meet the Press at 7-WSB-TV and Circle Theater at 8:30, same station.

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, who has just returned from the front lines in Korea, will be guest on MTP. He will face a panel, composed of Warren Francis, of the Los Angeles Times; Marshall McNeil, of Scripps-Howard and Lawrence Spivak of Mercury Publications.

Jerome Cowan stars in a down to earth comedy entitled "A Beautiful Friendship" on Circle Theater. It's the story of two families whose life-long friendship is threatened when it appears the son of one family is "two-timing" the daughter of another.

Barbara Bel Geddes and Donald Cook, co-stars of the Broadway hit, "Moon Is Blue," will be guests of Sherman Billingsley on WAGA-TV's Stork Club at 6:45. . . . The Irving Fields Trio and Vinni De Campo will join Roberta Peters as guests on the Jackie Gleason show at 8-WAGA-TV. . . . Look in on the Juvenile Jury show at 7:30-WSB-TV. The precocious youngsters are "loaded" with bright answers . . .

On the Air — Sen Estes. Kefauver will be heard in a special address entitled "Education and Public Morals" at 10:30-WSB-NBC. . . . Brian Donlevy stars as Steve Mitchell, resourceful soldier of fortune on Dangerous Assignment at 8:30-WSB-NBC . . . Pursuit, WAGA-CBS drama show, features a mystery in the exciting Sherlock Holmes tradition at 9-WAGA-CBS. . . . And "Operation Danger" at 8-WAGA. . . . A drama based on the life of John Adams will be presented on American Portraits at 8-WSB-NBC.

The Duty of the Free Press

The right of freedom of the press entails the responsibility of exercising that freedom in the public interest. When a newspaper editor senses or sees that something is wrong in his community, it is not just his privilege to investigate and to publish the result of his investigation. To do that is his duty.

Doing that duty is not always either pleasant or safe. Exposing negligence, malfeasance of duty or the wrongdoings of those in the public trust does not make the editor popular with the ones exposed. Often it leads to real danger, to physical injury, possibly to death.

Georgians, therefore, take great pride in the recent accomplishments of Georgia newspapermen like Ed Methvin, editor-publisher of The Eastman Times-Journal, and Jake McDonald and Mark Waits, publisher and editor, respectively, of The Cedartown Standard.

Twice now Ed Methvin has taken the initiative to dig into election returns in his home county of Dodge and to expose glaring irregularities in the conduct of the voting. There is no law to compel the Eastman publisher to his vigorous action in the name of truth and honest elections. His advertising and job printing business might be better if he laid low. But that's not for Ed Methvin. Self-respect and respect for his profession wouldn't let him follow any course other than that of publicizing the fraud that evidently has been perpetrated in his community.

More recently, in Cedartown, The Standard has taken issue with the city commission over law enforcement during the textile mill strike in the Polk County seat. The paper has attacked what it calls laxity of the authorities.

For exercising their duty as representatives of a free press, Editor Mark Waits has been threatened with violence, including the bombing of his home. Publisher McDonald was attacked by one of the group whom his paper criticized.

Both have stood their ground.

We glory in the spunk of these two men and of Ed Methvin at Eastman. And we're proud of the profession they represent. It is by such examples that the press justifies its right to freedom.

Not All the News Is Bad

While we are living in an era in which tensions and uncertainties are sure to play a continuing and major role, there are days when the news looks better. That of Monday was a sample.

In Iran the patient and able W. Averell Harriman, public servant of character and skill, has made progress toward settling the vital Iranian oil dispute.

In Washington we have an example of what value the eyes are in producing more sensible opinions.

Senator Brewster of Maine is back from Europe. A short while ago he was against the aid to Europe as proposed by General Eisenhower and the administration.

Having seen the need with his own eyes, he returns with praise for General Eisenhower and declares Europe is making progress. This should mean more help for General Eisenhower.

The atmosphere at Kaesong, where talks will be resumed on tomorrow, is optimistic.

It is a world filled with trial and trouble, but to be sure it always has been. And the good news is itself illustrative of the answer.

It is that patience and keeping everlastingly at it will often bring about the progress desired.

The Marshal Lived Too Long

Of Marshal Henri Phillipe Petain, dead on a bleak island off the coast of his native France, it may be said that he lived at least 15 years too long.

He was a hero of World War I. He was a traitor in World War II.

There will be those who dispute that charge. But the facts sustain it. He had become one of those persons who believed that people could not govern themselves and that the "strong man" plan of totalitarian government was best.

So the man who had in 1916 thrilled the world with his phrase, "They shall not pass," and who held on at Verdun against the German might, was in 1940 not merely willing, but eagerly in a hurry to surrender his country. He then served as head of the puppet state which tried and executed hundreds of Frenchmen for opposing that German-ruled government.

It was the cruel death of these French men and women, tortured and inhumanly killed, which loomed largest in the conviction of Petain. He and Pierre Laval were traitors beyond any reasonable doubt.

It is a pity that death did not come for the old marshal before the fateful summons by his country in 1940. Then he would have been remembered with honor.

An Investment in the South's Future

In a radio address in behalf of the United Negro College Fund, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., recently pointed out that only an enlightened people can make self-government work.

The country's Negro colleges, most of which are located in the South, are an integral part of this ideal. They also provide a hard economic asset.

It is a lamentable fact that the South largely has neglected its obligation to its many fine Negro institutions. Most of the gifts to Negro colleges come from Northern donors. In previous years we could rightly attribute this neglect to the South's economic plight. But that has changed for the better now and the excuse no longer is valid.

The United Negro College Fund was formed at the suggestion of Dr. F. D. Patterson, of Tuskegee Institute, in 1944 when rising costs threatened the existence of many Negro colleges. It was the nation's first educational community chest. It is, as Mr. Rockefeller said, "co-operative, constructive, noncontroversial and nonpolitical." It is interested solely in the higher education of Negro youths and is doing a fine job in keeping college doors open for them.

Contributions to the Fund are an investment in the South's future.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

A True Servant

The Editors: It is with the greatest sorrow that I learned of the passing of Bishop John Moore Walker.

To those of us who were fortunate enough to have been members of his congregation at St. Luke's or to those who came in contact with him in the years since he served as bishop, John Moore Walker will always live in our hearts. This devoted servant of God had been truly touched by Him. GEORGE E. PETLEY.

New York City.

For Justice's Sake

The Editors: I have something to add to Jack Tarver's article, "Unworthy of a Civilized State!" Amen!

The article was about the three attendants at Milledgeville State Hospital who were charged with committing such a horrible, sickening murder. And for the lawmakers in the State of Georgia to extend them such meager fines is beyond my comprehension. Where is the justice in this case? ATLANTAN.

Federal Offense?

The Editors: How can Georgia ever gain the respect of the nation when places like that house of horror at Milledgeville, with its notorious mistreatment of helpless people are tolerated?

If Georgia courts are incapable of dealing with such conditions I cannot see why federal jurisdiction isn't invoked. If law-enforcement officers can be prosecuted for abusing prisoners under federal law for violation of civil rights, so can state hospital personnel.

RAYMOND TOWNSEND.

New York City.

Information Please

The Editors: So justice is just a word and a jury is a joke! It was with a feeling of both shock and shame that I read of the verdict handed down to the ex-state hospital employes by Judge George Carpenter for their "misdemeanor."

I have followed the case throughout in The Constitution and give thanks for excellent reporting of facts, but could you enlarge upon the fact that Mr. Hooks was committed as criminally insane after being charged with driving while intoxicated? And is the public to assume that these three "naughty boys" will now be free to resume employment in our hospital?

Summerville. READER.

Memorial at Vicksburg

The Editors: Mr. McGill's recent column, "On the Bluffs at Vicksburg," was especially interesting. My grandfather, the late Col. Thomas E. Winn, was on General Lee's staff, and later elected to Congress from the old Tenth District. He was a great admirer of General Lee and recounted many of his experinces to my sister and me and we have a great reverence for him that is imbued in our souls.

Indeed, it does not seem curious to me—and I should say a great many others—that memorials of this kind to the sons of the Confederacy should be placed on the "Bluffs at Vicksburg."

Atlanta. MRS. MAE W. JOWERS.

Story by Speicher

The Editors: Relative to Leo Aikman's column "Get the Man Right First" and the inquiry of Walter Currie of Athens as to the source of the story:

In his booklet, "Cordially Yours," published by the Insurance Bureau and Review Service, Indianapolis, Ind., Paul Speicher tells the story of little Joan putting the world together by first putting the man together.

I hope this information will take the question out of "Who wrote it?"

Atlanta. G. LEWIS CHANDLER.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

A Feud That's Hard to Figure

WASHINGTON—It is a little difficult to explain the schism that has developed between President Truman and Sen. Paul Douglas (Dem., Ill.) over the appointment of two federal judges in the senator's home state.

After holding up action on the appointments for some six months the President finally nominated two judges who had not been recommended by Douglas. The White House procedure was unusual in several respects.

In the first place, Senator Douglas is a fairly strong administration supporter and as such he ordinarily would be expected to encounter no opposition in selecting appointees for judgeship vacancies. Custom dictates that appointments of the kind be treated as senatorial patronage, where the senator involved is a member of the party in power.

Another unusual feature of the case is the failure of the White House to advise Senator Douglas in advance that it was going contrary to his recommendations in making the appointments. This is a courtesy which is generally extended to senators when the President finds he is unable to go along with their indorsements.

If the incident had happened in the case of someone like Sen. Harry Byrd, anti-administration Democrat of Virginia, it would have been more easily understood. But Douglas has been a fairly consistent supporter of the Truman Fair Deal program.

A Slap On the face of things, most observers have been forced to the conclusion that the White House action was intended as a definite slap at the Illinois senator, since the President apparently made no effort to assuage the senator's feelings in the matter.

Various efforts are being made to interpret the action in terms of the President's future political plans. One suggestion heard is that Mr. Truman has definitely decided to stand for re-election and is lopping off heads that might rise in opposition to his renomination. Senator Douglas, of course, has been given prominent mention as a possible Democratic nominee in the event the President does not seek a third term.

Such a suggestion, however, does not make sense, particularly in the light of statements made by Douglas indicating that the President will have his support if he desires to run again. Also, as a candidate for re-election, Mr. Truman would be out of character in gratuitiously taking a slap at a powerful figure in his own party. The politics of the situation would call for him playing his hand the other way around.

What seems more logical is that the President, not wishing to run again, is determined to run things his own way for the rest of his term, rewarding his friends and punishing those who have displeased him.

Displeased In Senator Douglas' case, there have been several indications from the White House that he has displeased the President. For one thing, Mr. Truman recently snapped back at a Douglas suggestion about the Democrats nominating General Dwight Eisenhower, if the President decided not to run again. He said something to the effect that maybe Douglas was thinking about himself for second place on the ticket.

For another thing, Douglas was a leading member of the Fulbright investigating committee which charged that White House influence had been brought to bear in connection with RFC loans. The President deeply resented this, as he showed in some of his comments at the time.

Others think the rift between the President and the Illinois senator dates back to the 1948 pre-convention campaign, when Douglas was one of the leaders in the movement for sidetracking the President and nominating General Eisenhower.

But whatever the cause, something obviously is in the air between the two of them. It looks more like Truman is playing a free hand, without thinking in terms of another election.

HOWARD OVERBY

No Substitute For Conscience

Editor's Note: M. L. St. John is on vacation. Guest columnists, some of Georgia's outstanding legislators, are discussing whether the General Assembly needs a code of ethics. Rep. Howard Overby of Hall County is today's guest.

All members of the Congress of the United States take an oath of office before they are empowered to speak for us. The question has arisen as to whether these men who have accepted the oath in word are recognizing it as a basis for their actions. As you remember, this question of congressional integrity grew out of what was to have been a routine check of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. It exploded into a revelation of scandal in high places.

"There ought to be a law," was our characteristic American reply, but we must remember that in the actions of those implicated there was no breach of the letter of the law, only of its spirit. Therein lies a tragedy, for it would seem that the statutes on our books have become synonymous with our standards of ethics.

A Hearing At present a committee on ethics is listening to testimonies of leaders in many fields in an effort to discover the causes and remedies for the apparent breakdown of standards. Some feel that what has been uncovered by investigating committees is but an indication of the "slackening of the nation's moral fiber." Public malpractices are continuous only when private heads are purposely turned.

Others feel that political life has become so debased that the public expects only the worst. We are aware that the word "politics" only conjures up dark words these days. That is sad, for politics—good politics—is surely the steam that runs the vehicle of democracy.

Still others feel that it is caused by the attitude of both pressure groups and individuals, i. e., that the government is a Santa Claus and personal lackey boy all rolled into one.

A code of ethical conduct, to which all federal officials would subscribe, has been proposed. The suggestion also has been made that Georgia would do well to have one. Such codes might help, but they are not a "cure-all." There is no substitute for the conscience of man. A man without one usually manages to by-pass the code.

At Home Now let us look closer to home. What of the integrity of representatives to Georgia's General Assembly? As a member of that body, it is my feeling that the majority of our solons do endeavor to serve the best interests of the people of Georgia as they see it.

Some have asked about the practice of representatives of accepting fees from groups desiring a particular bill sponsored. There are those who feel that when they agree with the content of the suggested bill, they are morally justified in accepting fees for services rendered. On the other hand, there are those who feel that such a practice is dangerous and could lead to a breakdown in the legislator's conviction that his first responsibility is to his constituents. In the final analysis, that decision must be made in the conscience of the individual legislator.

Another question asked concerns the right of a Georgia legislator to serve as a state employe. I am positive that most legislators take state jobs for the simple purpose of earning more money. By and large, we politicians are not a rich lot, and a legislative salary does not pay for the job that must be done 365 days a year.

However, it is most difficult for a man to serve two interests —in this case, the state and his constituents. Furthermore, as I am often reminded, not one soul, my wife and mother included, from the topmost corner of Pea Ridge District to the last hollow in Friendship demanded that I seek office. I sought it, for better or worse, because I wanted it. I feel this is true for the vast majority of politicians.

Every public official owes his greatest effort, best ability and deepest integrity to those he represents. He promised them these things when he asked for their vote.

When they gave him their vote, they gave him their confidence.

Do We Need 'Heat' Effects?

A revolution is in the making in Georgia. The rebellion has already broken out in some places. And it has nothing to do with Sen. Harry F. Byrd. A growing number of men have got hot under the collar and declared that fifth or sixth or seventh freedom—of the sleeves. These brave souls are shedding their coats, even in church. The Ellaville Sun casually reports more slack shirts than coats at services on a recent hot Sunday, which could have been most any Sunday in the last month. Sport shirts seem to have occasioned no stir in the Schley County seat. It was different in Jasper, according to The Pickens County Progress. There the break with convention took the form of organized insurrection. "A group of men gathered in front of the Baptist Church just before Sunday school," says The Progress editor, "and served notice on all and sundry that they were going to levy a $2 fine on every man that wore a coat inside the church building, and they say that they are going to stand their ground the rest of the summer.

"We admit that it is not the orthodox Baptist way of doing things, but it seems to have accomplished the desired results, for when the preaching hour arrived there were only two men inside the church wearing coats, though there were several coats left in the vestibule.

"While they probably started the matter as a joke," the commentary continues, "there is no sane reason why a man should sit inside a hot church, wrapped up in a hot coat, and so uncomfortable that he can hardly comprehend the sermon."

I hope the coatless Baptists at Jasper collected $4 from the two stand-patters who didn't shuck their outer wraps. I joined the revolution Sunday, along with another intrepid fellow at the back of the church. And I observed a usually conservative matron follow the spirit of the order, if not the letter, by kicking off her tight shoes.

The movement is undoubtedly a popular one and will gain widespread support except among those like the pastor who objected to air-conditioning the church auditorium. "When I preach about fire and brimstone," he said, "I want my congregation to feel it."

And the Floods Still Come

WASHINGTON—Every year about this time, sometimes earlier, we witness a depressing spectacle in some part of our country or other caused by flooding rivers, always costly, but rarely on the gigantic scale such as now in the Missouri and Mississippi valleys. It's all unnecessary. That's the tragedy of it. The vast Missouri watershed is uppermost in our thoughts today. There is pending in Congress—as there has been for some years—a bill to create a Missouri River Authority which would be empowered to organize and administer a broad, comprehensive plan for that huge and rich area—a united plan under which the rivers could be controlled to prevent floods, and their waters utilized for navigation, agriculture and development of electric energy.

It has to be done on an integrated, area-wide basis to be effective, which is true also for our other river systems that flood periodically.

Instead, we have in the Missouri Valley what is called the Pick-Sloan Plan. It is a piecemeal program put together under the handicap of trying to compromise conflicting claims and pressures of localities and special interests, which is not conducive to the best interests of the region as a whole.

Here in Washington we see that reflected in the competition among congressmen, with the usual log-rolling, for dams and developments for their particular districts to curry favor and votes, without consideration for the needs of the entire watershed.

States in the upper Missouri Valley are interested chiefly in water for agriculture. In the lower valley, navigation and flood control are the concerns. This conflict is encouraged by private power interests in the constant effort to block public power development.

In the last six years Congress has appropriated over a billion dollars for the Missouri River system, some of it still not utilized, of course, and many millions before that. The floods still come. They will continue to come undoubtedly unless there is a unified plan of development under a central authority as provided by the MVA project.

General Pick explains now, absolving the Army engineers. Others explain. But it is hard to explain away what has happened. The outsider is always told that he doesn't understand when he suggests the MVA solution. He gets a lot of arguments about this or that, engineering, topography and so forth, as well as the usual political argument about "home rule," federal interference and the like.

For all this there is the answer in the Tennessee Valley Authority—TVA—under which the Tennessee River has been developed so that not only are floods controlled so they just don't happen, but the whole economy of that region has been rehabilitated and revived through proper utilization of the water, including production of hydroelectric power. TVA is locally and regionally administered in a thoroughly democratic way. Ask any local chamber of commerce in that valley. It has been good for business, too—as well as everybody else.

The late Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska, whose vision of Tennessee Valley development was realized finally through Franklin D. Roosevelt, had another and bigger dream inspired by TVA—similar integrated, all-purpose development of all the nation's great watersheds which would mean an MVA for the Missouri, a CVA for the Columbia and so on for all our river systems, north, east, south and west. It is nothing more than utilizing a resource, our water, which belongs to all our people, for the benefit of all our people, and is intensely practical and wise. It is also from a strictly economical standpoint in the long run.

This latest flood probably will cost a billion dollars. That comes in individual chunks from people in the area. It is the same for people in other areas when they are hit by floods. For far less cost in tax money, when spread over the whole country, we could get integrated development of all our river systems to protect the whole country from floods, and from that would flow other economic advantages, as has resulted in the Tennessee Valley from TVA.

It's just plain good business and sound sense.

Molotov's Speech Sharp Reminder of Peril

By C. L. SULZBERGER
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

PARIS, July 23—Soviet Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov's acrid speech in Warsaw on Saturday was a sharp reminder to the West not to rely too greatly upon Moscow's recent propaganda assurances of bland and peaceful intentions.

Stalin's deputy followed the approved Soviet formula: The pot called the kettle black. He told the Poles that the democratic powers were preparing a new war and direct acts of aggression and he spiced his main dish with the usual Kremlin threats against Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito. The importance of the event was not in what he said but the circumstances surrounding his diatribe.

To begin with, the mere fact that Molotov was chosen for this event is important. Andrei Vyshinsky or some lower ranking official such as Andrei Gromyko would have sufficed. It is rare nowadays that Stalin's chief lieutenant (in a formal sense) makes publicized addresses.

Secondly it is significant that two of the Soviet Union's best known marshals should have been assigned to sit beside him on the rostrum, Marshal Rokossovsky and Marshal Zhukov.

While the Kremlin has been accusing the West of preparing aggression as it seeks to muster a skeleton force to defend Europe against external menaces, the USSR this year has been accomplishing the following:

SOVIET UNION

According to Woodrow Wyatt, Undersecretary for War in the United Kingdom, the USSR now has 215 divisions under arms. Only in April Wyatt's boss, John Strachey, referred to 175 Russian divisions. Wyatt explained to this writer recently that the additional units he mentioned are artillery and antiaircraft divisions.

The USSR has succeeded in stockpiling a two years' supply of natural rubber; has built up a vast synthetic rubber production, and now has the following comparative annual production figures (as of the end of 1950) for items of direct war use:

Coal—166,000,000 metric tons in 1940; 260,000,000 metric tons at the end of last year. Petroleum—31,000,000 metric tons in 1940; 38,000,000 metric tons now. Iron—15,000,000 metric tons in 1940; almost 20,000,000 metric tons now.

Crude steel—18,000,000 metric tons in 1940; 25,500,000 metric tons now. Rolled steel (for use for armor and submarines)—13,000,000 metric tons in 1940; almost 18,000,000 metric tons now.

The U. S. S. R. has established a secret co-ordinating headquarters for central Europe in western Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland. The East German "bereitschaften" has been brought up to a strength of about 60,000 men.

In East Germany, West Poland and Czechoslovakia there are about 32 Soviet divisions. The British estimate that the Russians have more than 5,000 tanks in East Germany alone.

SATELLITES

The Bulgarian army is now between 160,000 and 200,000 strong. Since March it has been completely organized with Soviet equipment and a Soviet table of organization.

The Hungarian army is now more than 160,000 strong (despite previous persistent western underestimates of its force). The U. S. S. R.'s wartime Moscow commandant, General Cvetaiev, has taken over the job of Hungarian inspector general.

Rumania now has well over 300,000 men under arms. In March the first Soviet jet fighter units arrived there.

Soviet Rear Admiral C. V. Cherkov has been given command of Poland's Baltic fleet. Lieutenant General Ivan Turkiel, a Soviet regular officer, has been given command of the Polish air force.

The Czechoslovakian army has been built up to a strength of over 140,000.

This is the background of Molotov's speech. It adds considerable point to his hostile imprecations and unfriendly insinuations. It stresses the fact that whether the taps of Soviet propaganda run hot or cold the menace of a terrifying postive action remains permanently imminent.

Can't Alter Court Action At Milledgeville-Talmadge

Brunswick Woman Protests Verdict

Gov. Talmadge told a Brunswick woman Monday that court action in the trial of three attendants in the death of a Milledgeville State Hospital patient was out of his jurisdiction.

The trio, indicted on charges of forcing a patient to swallow a handkerchief which choked him to death, were freed after paying fines totalling $1,000 on a conviction of involuntary manslaughter.

Miss Sarah Hammons wrote the Chief Executive the "trial should be reopened and real justice meted out." She protested what she called "the mockery of a sentence passed by a Georgia court."

Miss Hammons also called for a "thorough overhauling" of the institution.

Talmadge answered in a lengthy letter that "we have done all we could" to punish the three involved in the death of Lloyd Hooks, the patient.

Talmadge commented in his reply that a coroner's jury had refused to act in the case—but State Welfare Director Alan Kemper had ordered Dr. T. G. Peacock, hospital head, to swear out warrants against the three men.

He further observed that the appropriations for the hospital had been increased from $3,171,931 to $5,289,845.

He told Miss Hammons the money had been used for construction of a new 1,000-bed Negro psychiatric hospital and a new 1,000-bed psychiatric hospital for whites.

When other contemplated improvements are completed, he continued, the hospital's capacity will have been increased by approximately 3,500 beds.

2 Girls Carve Open Wall of Jail Cell

POCATELLO, Idaho, July 23—(AP)—Two young women cut a hole through the wall of the Bannock County jail Monday and escaped.

Sheriff's officers said the prisoners, Gladys Pevo, 17, and Esteen Kako, 21, took a hunting knife from another inmate who had secreted it in her clothing and went to work while officers slept.

The pair cut a hole through the wooden wall of their cell and walked out the front door. They had been arrested on open charges pending investigation. The knife owner remained in her cell.

Sherman's Body on Way Back to U. S.

NAPLES, July 23—(AP)—The body of Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, whose 33-year Navy career began and ended in the Mediterranean, starts home Tuesday.

Officers and men of the U. S. Navy here will bow their heads in prayer before the flag-covered casket of the U. S. Chief of Naval Operations.

Sherman, the first career airman to be Navy chief, will be airborne for the last time Tuesday. A Navy plane will take his body to Washington where President Truman and the admiral's fellow countrymen wait to pay him final tribute.

The 54-year-old admiral, who fought through two world wars, died of a heart attack Sunday morning in a Naples hotel suite. Only a few days before, in the role of diplomat, he had negotiated for U. S. sea and air bases in Franco Spain. He was ready to take off for Washington via Madrid, when he was stricken.

GEORGIA EDITORS SAY:

A Shame That Is a Challenge

The Brunswick News

Quite appropriately a wave of indignation is sweeping over Georgia in regard to the torture death of a Milledgeville hospital patient. In the light of testimony from witnesses citing almost unspeakable tortures of the victim, the lightness of the sentences, we believe, is nothing less than shameful. For some months now, Georgia has been lulled into the idea that conditions were markedly improved at the hospital for the insane at Milledgeville. Indeed, there have been changes wrought in the physical properties, but it seems obvious that changes for the better have not impressed at least some members of the staff personnel.

In fairness to all concerned, however, the American public has only itself to blame for conditions at mental hospitals in Georgia and many other states. Several surveys conducted at a national level prove beyond question that "snake-pit" situations concerning care of the mentally ill have become a national disgrace.

Admittedly, we do not know precisely what is needed at the Milledgeville hospital. It may be presumed, nevertheless, that salaries paid attendants there are not sufficient to attract higher type individuals. And from courtroom testimony it seems evident that there are not enough doctors and nurses on duty.

Cartersville Tribune-News

Newspaper accounts of incidents such as this (at Milledgeville) feed the fires of the Communist propagandists.

Even the factual reports of the trial's testimony, without the inevitable padding by Soviet agencies, will make quite fearful reading for the average Russian citizen.

When the Communist rewrite man gets through with the story, he'll have every Muscovite shuddering in his Cossack boots at the "horrible, capitalistic treatment of the common man" in the United States.

One story such as this can undo all the good derived through the international radio programs beamed to the Iron Curtain countries by Voice of America and other similar mediums.

The only way we can keep the stories out of Russia is to keep them from happening.

The courts of Georgia can help.

Milledgeville Union Recorder

The lack of people trained in psychiatric nursing and care was one of the situations that caused most concern to the physicians at the Milledgeville State Hospital when they began their reformation of the state's largest institution a short time ago. Dr. Peacock, the superintendent, immediately began a training program and only a few weeks ago had the first graduating class of nurses and attendants, and presented certificates to them.

The sordid and sadistic stories told in court this past week of the treatment of patients was almost unbelievable. Those who fought the last war knew prisoners and interned persons were treated inhumanly by guards and prison attendants of both the Germans and the Japs, but to think such things existed in this Christian land was unbelievable. How anyone could be so cruel and heartless to a human being, especially one who did not have mental faculties to understand, was beyond the conception of those who heard these stories. It was convincing proof that Dr. Peacock and his coworkers were moving in the right direction in trying to train people who would know and understand the care and treatment of mentally ill persons.

Of course the program has a long way to go, but progress is being made and we commend the doctors for their foresight. Of course the pay scale must be improved and working conditions bettered, but these things come when people are trained and qualified to do a better job. Dr. Peacock believes the training schools now being carried on at the hospital are going to greatly improve the type and quality of nursing and in turn will attract better qualified people to do these jobs. The pay scale will have to go up as people place themselves in a position to earn and demand more pay by training and qualifications.

The reformation at the hospital will not come in a day but facilities, conditions and the quality of treatment are steadily improving and Georgia can look to the present staff of physicians and management with confidence.

H. T. McIntosh in The Albany Herald

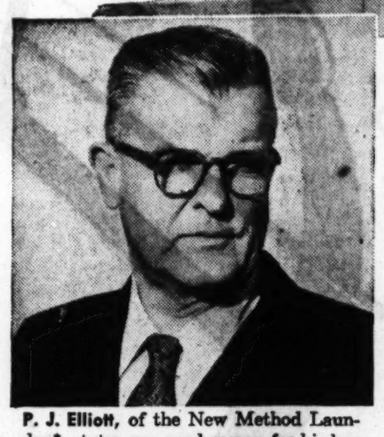

Georgia's mentally sick citizens are sent to the Milledgeville institution for treatment. Some are cured, many are helped, and the hopelessly insane are kept in confinement till death releases them. The institution to which they are committed is a hospital. Those it receives from Georgia's 159 counties are patients, not criminals, even though some are classified as "criminally insane." It risks nothing to refer to them as the state's most-to-be-pitied people.

But the recurrence of scandal involving this state institution has come to be taken for granted. The latest is one of the most shocking.

This is a challenge not to one city alone, but to Georgia. It cries to high heaven and to decency on earth for purging an institution where unspeakably horrible conditions are tolerated. Governor Talmadge and the state legislature owe it to themselves and the people they represent—and to the unfortunates who must be committed to the Milledgeville institution—to order a housecleaning and see that the job is thoroughly done.

DAD'S STAR—Five-year-old David Newell receives his late father's Gold Star from Capt. E. C. Rook as his mother, Mrs. Hugh F. Newell, and Sgt. M. H. Lucas look on.

Son, 5, Given Sgt. Newell's Air Citation

Five-year-old Atlantan David Newell received posthumous award of the Gold Star or the equivalent of a third Distinguished Flying Cross for his father, the late T-Sgt. Hugh F. Newell, at ceremonies at Marine Barracks of the U. S. Naval Ammunition Depot, Crane, Ind.

The little boy was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Nancy Newell, of 1255 Wrenwood Dr., N. E., and his sister, Natalie.

Sgt. Newell, Marine hero killed in action against North Korean forces, was cited for "extraordinary achievement in action on Aug. 26, 1950." A member of Marine Fighter Squadron 323 on an interdiction flight near Hypochon, Korea, Sgt. Newell "made a dive bombing attack and several rocket runs on camouflaged enemy vehicles and strafed troops accompanying vehicles in the face of heavy firing," the citation pointed out.

Nahara's Liquor License Revoked

The liquor license of former Talmadge lieutenant John Nahara of Douglas, was revoked Monday by State Revenue Commissioner Charles D. Redwine.

In a terse statement, Redwine said Nahara was a "person unsuited to hold a State liquor license."

Redwine said the license revocation grew out of charges against Nahara that he participated in a recent safe-cracking at Douglas which netted several thousand dollars.

He added that Nahara's county license already had been revoked by Coffee County authorities.

Nahara, described as a "strong-arm man" for Gov. Talmadge during the two-governor coups of 1947, is serving an eight month term in Tattnall State Prison at Reidsville.

The Coffee County Court revoked a suspended sentence against Nahara for operating slot machines after the safe cracking incident.

Nahara was arrested after he turned over $3,000 allegedly taken from the safe of John Ferris to Coffee authorities. He and two other men were implicated in the crime.

CALIFORNIAN IS NOW ABLE TO EAT ANYTHING THAT HE WANTS

Says He Tells His Friends How HADACOL Helps Folks With Stomach Distress, Nervousness, Poor Appetite, When Caused by Deficiencies of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron

Some folks say they live to eat, while others claim they eat to live. Eating is a necessity and it sure can be pleasant. But there are some folks who can't enjoy good food . . . it just doesn't seem to agree with them. If you're one of these folks who, because of deficiencies of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron and Niacin, suffer with stomach distress, then this article is intended for you.

Guy H. Housley, who lives at 641 14th St., San Diego, Calif., was one of those folks who couldn't enjoy food without having after-meal distress, but not any more, for he read how HADACOL was helping folks suffering with stomach disturbances, nervousness, sleeplessness when due to an upset stomach and poor appetite when due to deficiencies of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron, and he began taking HADACOL.

Mr. Guy H. Housley

Here is Mr. Housley's statement:

"I am 40 years of age and have had a nervous stomach condition for some time. Couldn't eat hardly anything. Back in my home town, I bought a bottle of HADACOL and before the first bottle was gone, I could tell a difference. Then I came to San Diego and couldn't get it here. I sent back to Atlanta for it. Now, thank God, they have it on the market here and I have a supply in my house. Not only that, but I'm telling all my friends what HADACOL has done for me. I sleep well, eat anything I can get and feel wonderful. I could go on and on praising HADACOL, it's done so much for me."

HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of weak, run-down conditions, stomach distress, nervousness, poor appetite and nagging aches and pains when due to the lack of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron in the system.

AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning when caused by such deficiencies. Now that's the kind of product you have been waiting for. That's the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

And HADACOL'S wonderful Vitamins and Minerals come in special pleasant liquid form so they are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood, ready to go to work at once.

HADACOL Is So Effective

Because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ and to every part of your body.

You may have tried other Vitamin preparations or other Vitamins and Mineral preparations, so we make you this offer. Try a bottle of HADACOL today if you need Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron. You be the judge. If you do not believe that HADACOL is the best Vitamin and Mineral preparation you have ever taken, we will gladly send you back your money. That's our positive money-back guarantee.

So be fair to yourself. Don't go through life suffering from these conditons when caused by lack of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron, when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drug store.

Refuse Substitutes

There's only one HADACOL. Don't let anyone tell you something else is "just as good." Insist on genuine HADACOL. You risk nothing because HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee.

Sold at all drug stores. Trial size, $1.25, but buy the large family-size, only $3.50.

Television Next Step For Southern Baptists

By PAT LIVINGSTON

Television is the big question to be considered by the Southern Baptist Convention's Radio Commission at its annual meeting in Atlanta Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dr. S. F. Lowe, director of the commission, says there's no question about going into the TV field . . . it's a decision of when and how much.

The Baptist Hour, government hospital programs, transcribed devotionals and plans for television are all a part of the evangelistic service of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Elected by and a part of the convention, the Radio Commission is composed of one member from each Southern Baptist State and five members at large.

Baptist Hour Choir at Saturday Recording

GEORGIANS ACTIVE

D. J. Evans, pastor of Gordon Street Baptist Church, Atlanta, and William E. Denham, Jr., pastor, First Baptist Church, Macon, are Georgia members who also serve on the central or executive committee.

Erle Cocke, Sr., Atlanta banking executive, is a new commission member.

Dr. Ramsey Pollard, Pastor, Broadway Baptist Church, Knoxville, Tenn, is chairman.

The Baptist Hour reaches four million listeners weekly through its program of prayer, message and song over 52 large and 255 small stations that stretch over the lower half of the United States.

Larger stations are paid regular time rates by the Baptist Hour, with local sponsors making a sustaining program of it on the many small stations.

Charles Wellborn, a persuasive radio evangelist and current Baptist Hour speaker, has accepted the invitation of the San Francisco Southern Baptist Convention to serve through 1952.

CONDUCTING RALLIES

Wellborn is making his home in Atlanta this Summer while working full time for the Radio Commission. He conducts Baptist Hour rallies in churches in the Southern Baptist area and works on the program at the Baptist Radio Center, 1585 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E.

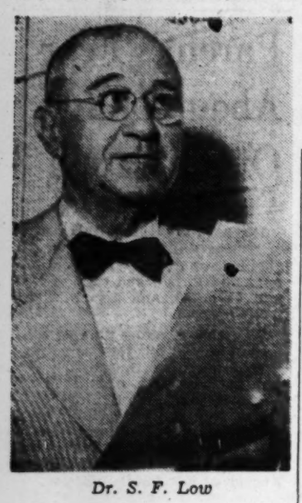

Air-conditioned soundproof studios at this location make Saturday recording sessions pleasant for the volunteer singers from Baptist churches of Atlanta who make up the choir.

John D. Hoffman directs the choir. Frances Schum is organist and Bill Mann is soloist. Their ministry in music airs the old familiar gospel songs every week.

Director Lowe has an "abiding conviction" concerning the policy and program of the Baptist Hour. It is this:

Most radio stations will gladly broadcast a religious program of superior quality without cost. The same principle will hold true in television.

"If the Southern Baptist Convention will supply its Radio Commission with sufficient funds to provide the best in studio, equipment and personnel, we can produce religious television programs of such superior quality as to render maximum service to television stations, to the public and to the cause of Christ," Lowe said.

100-Year-Old Clock, Magnolia Blossom Art Gifts for Bride-Elect

By ANNIE LOU HARDY

When relatives and friends asked Katherine Blackshear her preference in wedding presents, she invariably replied that she wanted something they had used, or something steeped in sentiment for some other reason. Consequently, when she and Bill Boardman set up housekeeping, following their marriage Tuesday night they will be surrounded by furnishings with a wealth of pleasant associations.

For instance, there will be a painting of magnolia blossoms done for Katherine by her aunt, Miss Laura Blackshear of Athens, a pastel portrait for which the bride-to-be sat whenever she could find time between prenuptial parties, done by Mrs. Lee Davis, and an antique porcelain clock given her by Mrs. George Bush.

The clock, at least 100-years-old, was a wedding gift to Mrs. Bush's mother, Mrs. J. F. Blackburn, from her father, it having originally belonged to Mr. Blackburn's mother, Mrs. Samuel Blackburn. Mrs. Bush and Katherine's father, Hinton Blackshear, were schoolmates at Piedmont College, and the families have been closest friends for years.

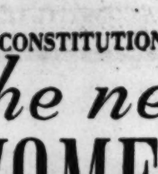

Another heirloom Katherine cherishes is a silver tray given her by Mrs. Robert H. Martin, the tray having originally been among the wedding gifts of the latter's mother, Mrs. Richard Earnshaw of Washington, D. C.

The handerchief Katherine will carry as a bride was made by Bill's great-grandmother, Mrs. Macon Holtzclaw of Perry. She will be the fourth generation to own the pretty bit of linen and drawn work.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS arriving Tuesday for the Blackshear-Boardman nuptials include Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Davis, of Macon, who will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Randall on W. Pace's Ferry Road; John T. Nicholson, Jr., of New York; Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Boardman, of Columbia, Tenn., Mrs. J. S. Cole and John Holtzclaw of Macon. Lt. Ralph Coady, of Camp Stewart, has already arrived and is the guest of the groom-elect on Club Drive. Miss Shirley Blue of Raeford, N. C., Miss Alice Chandler, of Athens, are guests of the bride-to-be on Peachtree Battle Avenue.

LEAVING MONDAY, Mrs. Everett Strupper went to Chicago where she is the guest of her father, William Humphreys, for this week. Later she will go to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for a stay of several weeks at the Greenbriar. She will return to Atlanta around August 20.

PETE BROADRICK left Saturday by plane for Long Beach, Calif., where he joined his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Reed, and his brother, Walter Broadrick, who have been residing there since April.

Mrs. A. T. Bradbury

ARCHITECTURAL INSPIRATION was the reason for a Caribbean cruise for A. Thomas Bradbury Atlanta architect, who with Mrs. Bradbury, landed Monday in New Orleans after a 16-day trip aboard the Alcoa Cavalier. Mr. Bradbury studied construction styles and garnered new ideas in architecture in Trinidad, Curacao, Dominican Republic, Jamaica and Caracas.

Dr. Herman L. Turner, pastor of the Covenant Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Turner made the same trip on the Cavalier. They will return to Atlanta Tuesday.

MRS. R. J. TAYLOR, SR., of Macon, arrives this week to visit her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Taylor, at the Pershing Hotel, and to welcome her great-grandson, Robert J. Taylor, III, born July 22 to Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Taylor, Jr., at Crawford Long Hospital. The baby is the fourth in line to bear his name.

MOTORING to Tuscaloosa, Ala., Mrs. M. R. Brady and Mrs. C. H. Cowart spent the week-end as guests of Miss Barbara Brady, who completed her work on a degree in business administration at the University of Alabama at the end of the first half of the Summer term. Miss Brady will spend the remainder of the Summer in Atlanta. In the Fall she will enter Duke University for a year's work on medical records.

Peace and Quiet---How to Have It

By MARTHA SMITH

Short of moving into a vacuum which sometimes seems a noble thought, daily problems make it impossible for a woman to have peace and quiet. If it isn't the baby yelling for attention, it's the older children slamming the screen door. Sometimes the very clatter of pots and plans as you reach for the skillet set your teeth on edge. Lady, it's a noisy world. And peace and quiet seem as remote as Tibet.

However, there are things you can do to achieve a touch of serenity. Experts maintain that a perfectly adjusted personality can carry through any external environment. The catch in this theory is there are no perfectly adjusted personalities.

If you can arrange your day to include just one half-hour alone, you'll be clever. While the children nap, or while a friendly neighbor looks after them perhaps, it's wise to use these moments to relax yourself.

Architects build bookshelves in bathrooms now to help you snatch what moments of peace and quiet you can. It's a good idea, for serenity doesn't come while your mind races furiously from one problem to another. The trick is to relax your mind as well as your body.

They call it sound conditioning, in the trade. If your home is sound-conditioned so noises don't bounce from wall to ceiling and back again, that's a good idea. But without such means of acoustical aid, it's practical to dream up your own noise-killers.

Generous use of oil on children's rolling toys eliminates a lot of racket. Careful selection among rubber products designed to reduce kitchen clatter will make life a bit stiller. Well-placed scatter rugs reduce the drumming of heels on the floor, and rubber heels on your own shoes make less noise everywhere.

Spread "quiet" propaganda among the youngsters. It teaches them good manners of speech as well as reducing strain on their vocal cords.

Educating yourself to work with a minimum of noise and effort is what the experts try to find for you in studies of motion and time. Try thinking through your day . . . eliminate the extra noise you make yourself. Tone the radio down a quarter-turn; probably you can hear just as well. Consciously, don't raise your voice when speaking to the children . . . ever notice the rapt attention they give a whisper while sometimes a shout goes unnoticed?

Think it through . . . you'll find that method simpler than moving to a deserted island and much more legal than banging the children's heads together in search of a moment of silence. Peace, it's wonderful.

Reclaim Waistline In Rhythmic Way

By IDA JEAN KAIN

When the figure gets soft around the edges, the waist slowly w-i-d-e-n-s. As the oblique muscle that criss-cross around the sides of the silhouette lose tone . . . the waist area bulks out and alas, pads age.

But you don't have to put up with it, for the waist is the easiest measurement to slim. And there is nothing that helps you feel more streamlined than to reclaim a lost waistline. Go easy on warm weather exercise, but make waist muscles g-i-v-e.

Get in a lighthearted mood with a lilting tune. That old song, "The Sidewalks of New York" has the right swing . . . slow-paced for precision movement.

Position: Sit on floor, legs spread wide apart, arms held out at sides at shoulder level. The trick in this exercise is to pull up-and-in snugly with the girdle muscles and hold the up-pull as you circle.

Movement: Twisting gently at the waist, in time to the music, swing around to touch fingers of left hand to outstretched right toes. Come on . . . east side, west side, all around—the waist. Ring around the rosy . . . and touch the left toes with the fingers of right hand. Continue for a dozen rhythmic circles . . . London bridge is falling down.

Flop over on the floor and stretch luxuriously from tip to toe . . . relax.

And now to the tune of "A Bicycle Built for Two," follow through with a side-bender to reach the muscles bounding the sides of the silhouette, the laterals.

Position: Kneel on floor and sit back on heels, with arms stretched out at sides at shoulder level. Pull up forcibly with the girdle muscles.

Movement: Bend to the right . . . "Daisy, Daisy" . . . and touch fingers to floor at side. Come back to position . . . "give me your promise true" . . . and bend to the other side. Continue rhythmically for not more than a dozen counts. Make it a slow, smooth stretch-bend, and keep pulled slim through the mid-section. Don't overdo at the beginning.

The exercises in the leaflet "For a Slimmer Midriff" can easily be taken to music. Please address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of this newspaper, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Personal Jewelry Coming Attraction For Chic Dressing

Purely personal jewelry is intriguing some of our smartest women these days—and costume jewelry designers will follow suit. Mollie Parnis, who adores her miniature poodle, has his portrait in sculptured gold with a halo in tiny diamonds which she wears day and night. Mrs. Gilbert Miller, a perennial best-dressed list member, has a miniature of the celebrated Goya portrait, Don Manuel, which her father left her, in rubies and diamonds. Valentina wears a thin thread diamond necklace with literally everything from sweaters and suits to evening gowns.

Parent's Fear About Child Often Wrong

By GLADYS BEVANS

It's a funny thing, this sense of responsibility, and our worry about it, or the lack of it, in our boys and girls when they are 10 and 11 or so, and also in their teens.

To be sure, many parents dismiss it with, "But they're young, they'll get over it, they'll have to." Others fret over it and think it will prolong into maturity, so that a son will not take on a man's obligations, nor a daughter assume properly the role of mother to her babies, or keeper of her family's house.

Actually these last two apprehensions are seldom justified by observation and experience. Most young people rise to the occasion when circumstances require it, even though that idea might seem to us to be in the future realm of the fantastic, since at 11 they remember nothing, and orderliness is not in their vocabulary; and when at 15 they seem lost to all your realties, while their own concerns and companions and clothes loom so large that even they themselves sometimes seem swamped by them.

Of course, some children and some families go through these metamorphoses with varying degrees of intensity and friction. But the fact of the matter is that boys and girls do emerge, often seemingly full-blown—from the chrysalis of middle childhood and adolescence into a surprising degree of maturity, frequently under the stimulus of an early marriage.

Junior at an Auction

When your children are small you look at them hoping to find in them qualities you don't possess. You look at them and search for signs that they will accomplish the things you failed to accomplish, attain the stature you fell short of, reach all your old goals. You also look at them and wonder if they've got your favorite weaknesses, if they will succumb to your more pleasant temptations, if they will enjoy the same unprofitable pursuits that are so beloved to you.

It was weakness we were looking for and not strength when we studied our only son, Jimmy, the other night. We have long suspected that he shared many of his mother's shortcomings and we wondered specifically if at heart he could be a devotee of auctions and junk shops.

"The only way to find out," said our friend, Rita, "is to take him and see."

So we took him with us to the Atlanta Auction Gallery's regular Friday night soiree. We gave him a dollar before we got there so he would be able to bid on something, which is a prime requisite for enjoying an auction. You don't actually have to bid to have a good time but to know that you can bid if you want to is elementary to pleasure in auctions.

From the beginning his response to the atmosphere was gratifying. You could tell he found the folding chair in the big musty warehouse a fine place to sit. You could tell he was interested and stimulated by the company, a hundred or so people of all ages, deployed about the auction room on folding chairs, antique sofas and even on one 1845 sleigh bed (springs included, no mattress). He padded back and forth with the others to the soft drink machine and from time to time got up and poked around the cabinets and tables laden with the stuff that was to be auctioned off. And then he fell into the spirit of the auction itself.

We saw him clench his hands and heard the sharp intake of breath as the bidding grew tense between two elderly gentlemen struggling for a gigantic goldfish bowl (complete with a plaster cat holding a fish net). He chortled happily when an atrocious tabouret reached the stand and all the auctioneer would say about it was: "What am I offered for this very INTERESTING piece?"

He writhed in agony when a collection of fine old guns, including dueling pistols, ancient muskets and one bell-barrelled blunderbuss, were sold at prices that made the auctioneer wring his hands and mop his brow in despair. "If I'd just saved my money, Mama!" he kept moaning. "I'm gonna work hard the rest of this Summer and the next time they sell guns I can bid on them!"

And finally in a fever pitch of excitement he reached a point where he had to bid on something—anything.

Simultaneously the auctioneer reached a plush-covered photograph album with a gilt lock and a mirror inset on its cover.

"Who'll start it off with 25 cents?" called the auctioneer. "Do I hear 25 cents?"

"Yup," said Jimmy gulping and clutching his dollar. "Twenty-five cents!".

"Do I hear 50? Twenty-five, do I hear 50?" carolled the auctioneer.

He heard 50—and Jimmy started perspiring. "Who'll make it 75?" came the call. Jimmy, trembling with excitement, made it 75.

"Seventy-five," pursued the auctioneer. "Who'll make it a dollar?"

In a desperate last-minute push Jimmy made it a dollar, not realizing he was by then bidding against himself. For tense, breathless seconds it looked like the price might climb to $1.25, beyond his reach. We sat still, waiting, not daring to breathe. Any person in that room might have $1.25 and need a plush-covered album.

The auctioneer, wheedling, wooing them with his voice, sought out that person. But none responded. The album was sold to Jimmy for $1. He handed over the damp, wrinkled greenback and then turned to us helplessly when the auctioneer's man asked for three cents sales tax. We scrabbled through our purse, paid the tax and looked up to find Jimmy surveying his empty album with an expression of utter dismay on his face.

"Mama," he asked in honest wonderment, "what did I want with this thing?"

We hugged him happily. Our only son had been initiated as a true follower of the auction-junk shop cult. He had spent his all for something utterly, ridiculously useless and unwanted. He was, in truth, his mama's son.

WHAT ABOUT EATING?

Chinese Food Peps Palate, Eases Budget

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD

There's no need to go to China or even a big city Chinatown for Chinese food. Chinese food has several points in its favor. It is easily made at home; most dishes require short cooking times, as a general rule Chinese dishes are low in fat content making them perfect for warm weather eating, and they have the advantage of making a little meat, fish, or chicken go a long way.

For a simple Chinese dinner serve either Egg Foo Young or Chop Suey (both if the family eats heartily), fluffy hot rice or crisp fried noodles, a raw vegetable relish tray or a head lettuce salad, and for dessert ice cream topped with preserved ginger or fruit and lots of tea, preferably hot.

EGG FOO YOUNG

- 1½ cups canned bean sprouts
- ½ cup finely sliced onion
- 1 cup cooked whole small shrimp, shredded chicken, or pork
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 6 eggs
- 1 tablespoon peanut oil or shortening

Drain bean sprouts and combine with next three ingredients. Add well beaten eggs. Fry in heavy frying pan in melted shortening at moderate heat, 5 minutes or until eggs are set and underside is golden brown. Fold over in center; turn out on hot platter. Serve immediately with brown sauce. Makes six servings.

With rice this is Chop Suey, with fried noodles it is Chow Mein. If you can't get water chestnuts, then toss in a few peeled radishes a few minutes before serving.

CHOP SUEY

- ½ pound lean pork
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 cup diced celery
- ¾ cup sliced onions
- 1 cup chicken boullion
- 1 small can mushrooms
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 can bean sprouts, drained
- 4 water chestnuts cut in thin lengthwise slices
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- ¼ teaspoon sugar

Cut pork in small pieces and brown in shortening; add celery, onions and boullion, cover and simmer 20 minutes; add mushrooms an da paste made of cornstarch and water, cook 10 minutes, stirring until thickened. Add bean sprouts, water chestnuts and seasonings and heat thoroughly. If desired, 2 tablespoons soy sauce may be added. Makes about 6 servings.

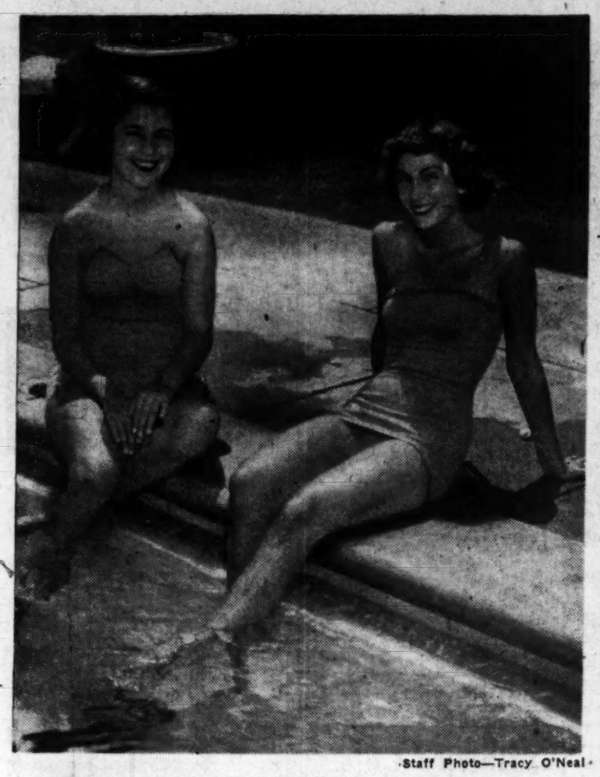

CHINESE BROWN SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons peanut oil or shortening
- 1½ tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- ½ cup water

Heat oil; add combined flour, sugar, salt; add soy sauce and water, blend thoroughly. Cook until slightly thickened, about 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Makes about ½-cup sauce.

Mountain Chefs Need to Know New Recipe Rules

Did you know that most recipes and cooking-time charts are set up for low-altitude areas? If you're vacationing in the mountains (at altitudes more than 3,000 feet above sea level) adjustments in cooking time are necessary.

Crystal comes off the shelf more often in Summer, the sociable season, for cool drinks, light luncheons and so on.

So that it will do you proud, here are refresher tips for old-timers, an introduction to new brides on the art of keeping crystal clear and chip free.

Some timely tips are: 1. Don't thrust frosted glasses, just drained of iced drinks, in scalding water. Chances of cracking are doubled.

2. Do rinse water pitchers after each meal. Even water left standing can make glass look rusty.

3. To deodorize a flower vase, use a chlorine bleach solution.

Invest in a couple of kitchen accessories to lengthen the crystal's life. A medium stiff brush will shine it up. A rubber mat and rubber-coated dish rack will pamper the fragile pieces. Linen or patented cotton towels that guarantee not to lint keep it sparkling.

Not getting technical, but certain liquids don't agree with glassware. Some water is too hard and requires a softening soap product. Glasses with milk stains may have to be rinsed in warm water softened with soda. Wine glasses should be washed immediately after use so as not to form unsightly rings.

Basic washing instructions for crystals are: Wash in light soap suds with water that is comfortably hot to your hands. Rinse in scalding water.

Store your delicate pieces carefully. Place tumblers upright on the shelf. If they must be stacked, place a strip of paper between each glass. If they stick together, pull this fast one. Pour cold water on the inner glass; hold the outer one in warm water.

Keep glass plates away from shelf edge.

Next Romance Let Boy Chase You, She's Told

BY SHEILA JOHN DALY

It's the same old story—girl meets boy, girl falls for boy, but boy doesn't show a flicker of interest in girl. In fact, he seems intent on running as fast as possible in the opposite direction. Here's a letter from the girl in question, who's looking for a happy, girl-gets-boy ending to the tale:

"When I was younger, I used to read all the stories in teen-age magazines about the smooth girl and her best friend, who was always sort of drippy (not necessarily ugly) and dated a goofy boy. I always used to imagine myself as the smooth girl—not that I was conceited, but I just couldn't imagine myself as a follower. I'm still determined not to be one, but whenever I go to dances with my crowd, the other girls all get the glances and the dances, and all I get are drips.

"Right now I'm out to get a smooth felow of my own. He isn't handsome, but I think he's cute. I met him at a dance at our school this Spring. The day after the dance I couldn't eat a thing—or the next day either. Finally it got so bad that, even though I'd met him once, I asked him to our prom. He said yes, but called four days later and said he was short of cash and couldn't afford to go, as he had to attend his own graduation hop, too.

"On the night of our dance, he was in the balcony of the gym, without a date and just looking on. One of my girl friends told me this because I didn't go—I couldn't think of anyone else to ask. He told my friend he felt bad about not taking me, but he hardly knew me at all. Discouraging, isn't it. He hasn't asked me for a date, even though he could have asked me to his graduation dance—he could afford that. I know he thinks I have a crush on him, but I don't show it that much. I don't know what approach to use to win him."

Obviously, the approach you're using now isn't the right one. The commando o tt - to-get-my-man technique is notorious for scaring off shy guys, and that's just what you've done.

Maybe you've lost this guy for good, but put the lesson learned to good use. Next time, you give the impression of running fast in the opposite direction

Thin Shellac Gives Added Depth to Art

Reproductions of fine art paintings will have a greater depth with one or two thin coats of pure, fresh, white shellac. Many of the fine old paintings are protected with one or more coats of French varnish, a refined wax-free shellac.

Help out the food budget by serving a vegetable plate once a week for a family meal. Be sure to include potato on the plate, a green vegetable, and a yellow or red one.

Who Answers When You Call Capitol?

Two attractive young ladies—one a secretary and the other a receptionist—command the last outposts on the route to the office of Gov. Herman Talmadge at the Capitol.

Miss Peterson

Miss Leta Braselton, the receptionist, answers to "information please" on every subject visitors ask, while inside the governor's main and private office, Miss Alta Peterson is the Girl Friday of the chief executive.

By YOLANDE GWIN

"The visitors seem to think I know everything," she said.

"People want to see the governor about everything, whether it comes through the executive department or not. People often call for road information, saying that since the governor travels so much he must know. Visitors from out of the state ask about the state's history; many Georgians ask for the governor "on private business."

Miss Braselton listed some of the "private business" queries as any thing from getting relatives in and out of various state institutions; having roads fixed in front of their home; asking for jobs; asking for more old-age pensions; to asking for a lift to certain sections of the state where the governor is to speak.

Miss Peterson, playing her first role as a private secretary (she practiced law before), sits one wall and one door removed from the Governor, has her share of queries too. After visitors are sorted, screened and steered to the right place by Miss Braselton, they are Miss Peterson's problem.

"The ones whom the Governor does not know personally I interview before sending them in, but my main job is letter writing, keeping the Governor's date book, keeping a file on everything and knowing just where the Governor is all the time.

"I make all of his appointments and see that there are no conflicting dates for speechmaking. I know every train, and plane schedule by heart as well as all the routes to various counties. I usually check the maps so that if possible two speeches won't be scheduled too close together in neighboring places. Every Friday I give the Governor a list of his appointments, his speechmaking dates, the sponsoring groups, and the time of departure and whether its by train, plane or car. I give a duplicate to Mrs. Talmadge and keep one myself. Any event in the families of his friends are recognized by a wire or flowers."

And so it goes, everyday, these two ladies talk and answer any question that some confused mind decides to solve merely by calling up the Governor.

Vandals Aid Demolition Of Valentino Mansion

HOLLYWOOD, July 23—(UP)—A small army of wreckers will drive up to Rudolph Valentino's old mansion this week to tear it down—but most of it won't be there.

Valentino fans are helping things along by carting the house away, piece by piece.

The white stucco Italian villa, the first mansion the great lover built in movieland, stands on a hidden hillside in the path of a new state superhighway. So the state paid the last owner $90,000, and condemned the landmark of early Hollywood to oblivion.

But souvenir hunters, in a nip-and-tuck race with the wreckers, have swarmed over the 12-room palace like termites.

Gold-leaf wallpaper was stripped from the walls of Rudy's bedroom that overlooks the glittering lights of the cinema city. Plumbing fixtures, the medicine chest and even toothbrush holders were yanked out of the Sheik's lavish bathroom.

"They left the shower door, anyway," sighed Thomas Silsby of the State Highway Department.

Downstairs no Valentino fan figured how to pry up the black marble floor of the sunken living room. And souvenir hunters didn't touch the tile walk lettered "Villa Valentino" that lies before the heavy front gate.

But tapestries were ripped from the walls of the bar. Several rooms once were paneled with great mirrors, some backed with gold, so the handsome movie idol wouldn't have to walk far to look at himself. The vandals didn't miss many of those, either.

Silsby did track down an enthusiastic lover of the silent cinema who walked off with the imported wrought iron railing that wound down the terraced garden.

"He was supposed to give us $100, but we haven't seen it yet," Silsby said.

The huge six-sided swimming pool is flanked by Valentino's bathhouse, a shell-like tiled niche, a latticed Summer house and a waterfall spilling down some rocks.

Valentino deserted his villa in the '30s to build a more lavish home, Falcon's Lair, in Benedict Canyon.

Nickel's Worth Of Energy Packed For Mid-Trip Snack

If you're going on an automobile trip this Summer and are taking along young children you'll be wise to pack some of the small nickel-size packages of raisins. They're a wonderful quick energy food and children love them for in-between-meal snacks.

Wedding Bells

Andrews-Booth

Miss Virginia Elizabeth Booth and Harold Braden Andrews were married at Frances Winship Walters Chapel of St. Mark Methodist Church, with Dr. Louie D. Newton officiating, and John Philip Booth giving his daughter in marriage. Riley J. Milan was best man, and Miss Joyce Crosland was maid of honor. The bride wore white lace and net, and her fingertip veil fell from a cap of shirred net and pearls. She carried a bouquet of tuberoses, swainsona and white orchids.

Lewis-Stoney

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kern, Jr., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Claudia Wood Stoney, to Richard Milton Lewis, son of Col. and Mrs. Stuart Lewis, of Atlanta, which took place in the parlors of the Druid Hills Presbyterian Church, with the immediate families present. Dr. Patrick D. Miller officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Claude Ross Pyburn, and Miss Eleanor Stoney was her sister's maid of honor. Col. Lewis was best man for his son. The bride attended the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, and Gulf Park Junior College. She is employed by Courts and Company. Mr. Lewis was graduated from Georgia Military Academy, and attended Georgia Institute of Technology. He is employed by J. M. Tull and Company.

Rollaway Cots Useful for Extra Guests

The problem of overnight guests can be easily solved if there's a rollaway cot in the house. It folds up easily and can be stored out of sight until ready to be put in use.

Or, if the housewife wants it for a lounge for the living room or sun porch, she merely has to add bolsters and slipcovers in a fabric to blend with her room scheme, and an attractive lounge is provided.

Large macaroni shells may be cooked and used for hors d'oeuvres; fill them with cream cheese and minced olives, with an egg and anchovy spread, or with a deviled ham mixture.

General Tendencies — Better be cautious than regretful today. A good many of the plans or discussions or acquaintances close to you just now are not all what they seem to be. Toward evening, however, this situation clears up somewhat and there can be an interesting although not a very romantic entertainment or friend present. Probably most people will do better to use their heads rather than their hearts in making decisions today; note this if your birthday comes in April or May.

If It's Your Birthday—Possibly things may seem a bit slow this Summer, but they are gaining speed and will begin to look good by the first part of next December. All the Winter months and most of next Spring should see you both busy and happy. Please, however, be careful aboout accidents or sudden quarrels throughout the year, since a distinct note of turbulence is present in this horoscope and might result in some unpleasant or serious situation if unchecked—could cost money, too.

Drygoods

NEW YORK, July 23—(AP)—The cotton textile market was slow Monday. There were scattered sales of print cloths and broadcloths, with prices generally displaying a heavy tone. Some quarters, however, were encouraged by the slight improvement in demand for the popular 80 square print cloth last week for fourth quarter delivery as evidence that the market may be stabilizing pricewise.

The wool goods market was slow. Mills showed no inclination to make offerings because of lack of buyer interest at the moment. Rayon goods were dull.

Employers Seek Method To Raise Workers' Pay

Employees Caught in Wage Freeze Moving Elsewhere to Better Jobs

By BILL BORING

Georgia employers are beating a path to the wage stabilization "wailing wall," begging for the privilege of raising their workers.

"They're coming in every day, pleading for relief, saying their employees are leaving them," says James M. Patton, director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division here.

"Others are paying more, why can't we?" is the typical complaint.

Patton says members of his staff have to inform them that the same 10 percent wage formula applies to all.

It's the "pinch-penny" type of employer who is feeling the most pain, Patton's people say. It's the employer who paid no more than he absolutely had to who is now howling the loudest for relief. He was caught at a low-wage scale and although allowed the 10 percent increase, he didn't have too much to start on. Thus he's at a disadvantage in an increasingly competitive labor market.

All over the country, industry is scrambling for workers. Particularly is this true with regard to engineers and other technical people.

Big companies are making blanket orders for every graduate of the big technical schools. Salaries offered range from about $300 a month for bachelor of science graduates to $750 for Ph.Ds.

The Georgia Tech campus has been a happy hunting ground for industrial scouts for years. Industry after industry sends recruiting teams here.

Typists, bookkeepers, tabulating attendants and clerks of all types are in big demand. Help-wanted advertisements here pull all the stops in appeal to worker candidates. Such come-ons as "enjoy an air-conditioned office," etc.

Large industries elsewhere offer to pay local job candidates' moving expenses, help find them houses and even "build baby a play pen."

The scramble for workers is getting so hot that there have been charges and counter charges of "hoarding workers," "unnecessary stockpiling of workers," etc., flung around the industrial circuits.

The competition, the Wage and Hour Division here reports, is becoming general, reaching all brackets of employees.

"Call us collect!" says a Savannah hotel advertising in Atlanta for a waitress.

RETAIL TRADE IS UP in Georgia cities for the first five months of the year.

The Regional U. S. Department of Commerce office said Monday that Atlanta shows a 11-percent gain; Augusta a 34 percent gain; Savannah a 15 percent gain; Columbus a 11 percent gain, and Macon a 10 percent gain.

A breakdown of Atlanta sales showed that lumber and building materials advanced 19 percent; furniture 12 percent, apparel 11 percent, and department store wares 10 percent and food 29 percent.

CORPORATE EARNINGS reported Monday revealed:

General Electric Company had a net income of $70,326,000 for the six months ended June 30, equal to $2.44 a share. This compared with $77,445,000, or $2.69 a share, for the like period last year.

The New York Stock Exchange had a net profit for the first six months of this year of $435,990 as compared with earnings of $550,588 for the first half of last year.

SAVINGS BONDS SALES in Georgia for the first six months of 1951 totaled $20,934,549.

Joseph G. Woodruff, State director for the Treasury Department's Savings Bonds Division, in reporting this said that Lincoln County, with a goal of $90,000, reached sales of $100,263 in the first six months of 1951. The county was the first to go over the top.

O'Gara Heads Davison's In Augusta

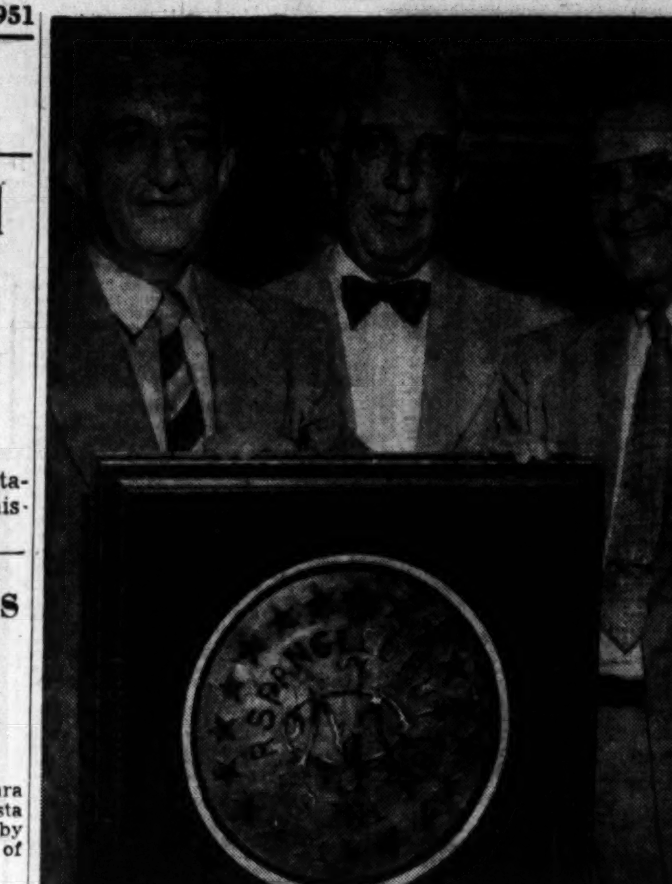

Appointment of Frank J. O'Gara as manager of Davison's Augusta store was announced Monday by Charles H. Jagels, president of Davison-Paxon Company.

O'Gara, a merchandise administrator at Davison's here, will succeed William S. Hayden as the Augusta store manager.

Hayden, who started his retail career at R. H. Macy & Company, New York in 1931 has resigned as of Sept. 15 to accept an executive position with P. H. Rose Company, Norfolk, Va.

O'Gara began his retail career with R. H. Macy & Company in 1924. He served in various buying and merchandising capacities at Macy's and came to Davison's in 1933.

Following a tour of duty in the Navy as lieutenant commander, he aided in establishing Davison's store in Augusta. In 1946 he was recalled to Atlanta to supervise the expansion of Davison's branch store facilities.

Graybar Chief Notes South's Trade Growth

The economic growth of the Southeast during the past few years has "amazed" businessmen in other sections of the country, according to Alfred H. Nicoll, of New York City, president of the Graybar Electric Company.

"The diversification of industry and agriculture in this region is creating a tremendous volume of new purchasing power and this is reflected in the greatly increased volume of sales in all lines of business," explained Nicoll. "In our business, for instance, total sales for the first six months of 1951 were up 30 percent over the volume for the same period of 1950 and of this increase the larger share came in the South and the Southeast."

In view of this experience, Nicoll said Graybar is planning for continued expansion of business in this region in future years.

"Nationally, we expect a letdown in sales for the last six months of the year," he continued. "However, we are expecting a 10 percent increase in the $400,000,000 volume of sales we made in 1950."

Nicoll was in Atlanta to take part in the ceremony of awarding the "Star Spangled Button" to Walter A. Northington, of Atlanta, for 49 years service with Graybar and its predecessors. Northington received the button from G. J. Gossman, Graybar's Chicago District Manager, who is retiring after 51 years years of service. With the retirement of Gossman, Northington becomes oldest Graybar employee in active service.

Willard E. Henges, of New York City, vice president of Graybar, accompanied Nicoll to Atlanta.

A. D. Hammond is Graybar's Atlanta District Manager.

Gas Company Asks To Sell Debentures

The Atlanta Gas Light Company applied to the Georgia Public Service Commission Monday for authority to sell $4,500,000 worth of four percent debentures due Aug. 1, 1971.

Company Treasurer A. R. Hathaway testified that six Atlanta brokers have agreed to sell the debentures for an $18,000 service fee.

He said they have obtained the following buyers:

Travellers Life Insurance Company, $1,500,000; Northwestern Mutual, $1,000,000; Great Western Assurance Company, $500,000; Teachers Retirement Fund of Georgia, $500,000; The Employees Retirement Fund of Georgia, $100,000; American Express Company, $500,000; the Life Insurance Company of Georgia, $200,000, and the Royal Ladies of America, $200,000.

Hathaway told the commission the debenture issue is subject to approval of two-thirds of the stockholders at an Aug. 14 meeting.

He said the board of directors has elected to sell debentures instead of bonds or stocks because "we found it was a buyer's market. When we announced the interest we could afford to pay, nobody was interested."

He added that the company is holding back issuance of bonds until later should additional financing be needed, for its expansion program.

In another action, the commission received an application from the South Atlantic Gas Company, of Savannah, for permission to increase the heat content of its gas.

Two company officials testified the increase in the British thermal unit content from 500 to 600 per cubic foot will result in only a few cents difference in the customer's bill.

A British thermal unit is the amount of heat required to raise one pound of water one degree Farenheidt at sea level.

Stocks Reach Best Level In 6 Weeks

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, July 23—The stock market took a step forward Monday after the indecisive pattern of last week. Virtually every major section of the list participated in the new recovery effort with special emphasis on the railroads and petroleums. Northern Pacific continued to dominate trading and among the leaders scored the widest gain—a further lift of 3⅜ points. Interest was maintained in this rail stock because of the oil discovery on its lands in the Montana-Dakota basin, hailed by the industry as the greatest find of its kind since the opening of the East Texas fields.

Prices attained the best levels since mid-June as the composite Dow rate advanced .74 points. Quotations reached the top rates of the session in the final hour but even the burst of buying then failed to materially help business on the stock exchange where transfers aggregated 1,320,000 shares compared with 1,390,000 shares on last Friday. Dealings broadened a bit to include 1,068 individual stocks and, at the close, 531 were higher and 292 lower.

STEELS, MOTORS UP

Some fair progress, aside from the carriers and oils, was also made by representative units in the steel, utility, motor, chemical and gold mining divisions. News for market consumption was of a diversified nature with individual corporate developments the main factors behind certain additions. However, from a broader viewpoint, market followers paid particular attention to President Truman's economic message to the Congress wherein he called for a tremendous expansion in the nation's military machine entailing a cost of billions of dollars. Regardless of any peace in Korea, a greater effort is necessary, he said.

A further possible beneficiary of the new oil discovery, Montana-Dakota utilities, ran up sharply as the company announced plans to offer additional stock to shareholders. Helping the petroleum section also was a higher dividend declared by Standard Oil of Indiana in addition to a stock disbursement. National Can was active and higher on reports in the financial district that a syndicate was seeking control of the company at a price slightly higher than 9½ where it closed.

GOLD STOCK GAINS

Due to a block of 10,000 shares traded in the final period, Benguet Consolidated Mining topped the market in volume on 64,800 shares and with a price enlargement of ¼ point at 1½. Northern Pacific, on a turnover of 29,100 shares, scored a further increase of 3⅜ points to a rate of 49⅝. Other rails were generally higher with Santa Fe raised 3 points. Phillips Petroleum was the most active among the oils on 17,700 shares and added 1⅛ points at 44⅝ while Standard of Indiana skyrocketed 4⅜ points to a close of 68½.

Montana-Dakota utilities was ahead 2⅜ points to a new high of 22½. Freeport Sulphur was among the day's stronger spots with a rise of 4¾ points to a fresh peak. General Motors advanced ⅝ point at 48½ with Chrysler increased 1¼ points at 67½.

The steels were generally raised fractions, United States Steel adding ½ point at 40½ and Bethlehem ¾ point at 50½. Television presented a mixed appearance with Zenith down 1¼ points. Georgia Peach Crop Largest Since 1947

Market news service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture closed its offices in Macon Monday after reporting the biggest Georgia peach crop since 1947.

Combined rail and truck shipments to date total 5,116 compared with the 1947 figure of 5,665, and trade sources estimate there are 500-600 cars still to be shipped, the news service said.

Further reports on the peach crop will be issued from the market news office in Spartanburg, S. C.

Metal Quota Deadline for Quarter Near

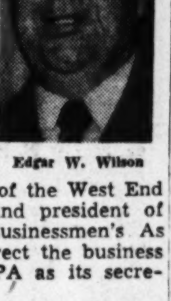

Georgia manufacturers were warned Monday of the approaching July 31 deadline for getting in applications for fourth quarter allotments of steel, copper and aluminum.

Application blanks may be received from the U. S. Department of Commerce regional office, 418 Atlanta National Bank Building, Atlanta.

Included among those classes of products the manufacturers of which are now required to file for fourth quarter allotments of the controlled metals are frames for mirrors and pictures, wood household furniture, both upholstered and unupholstered and other furniture and fixtures, reed and rattan furniture, metal household furniture, cases, cabinets, counters and other fixtures, venetian blinds, window shades and accessories, stationery, tablets and related products, periodicals, certain leather and glass goods, furniture and cabinet hardware, domestic cooking stoves, ranges and appliances, except electric, vitreous enameled cooking and kitchen utensils, pails, ash and garbage cans, metal stamping, stamped and spun cooking and kitchen utensils, certain wire products, machine tools, bottling machinery, woodworking machinery and many others.

Poultry Group Moving Here

Atlanta has been selected as the business headquarters of the American Poultry Association, with Edgar W. Wilson, West End businessman, in charge.

Edgar W. Wilson

This shift of the Association's operating locale from its traditional headquarters in the Midwest was authorized at the organization's recent annual convention in Roanoke, Va.

Wilson, owner of the West End Feed Company and president of the West End Businessmen's Association, will direct the business affairs of the APA as its secretary.

The Association, with membership both in America and abroad, sets the breeding standards for all varieties of fowls.

Rounsaville Buys Kentucky Station

R. W. Rounsaville, who owns Radio Station WQXI, in Buckhead, said Friday night he had completed the purchase of Station WLOU, in Louisville, Ky., for $40,000 plus a long-term lease on the building now occupied by that station.

In addition to the Buckhead station, Rounsaville also owns Station WBAC, in Cleveland, Tenn., and a 51 percent interest in Station WBEJ, in Elizabethton, Tennessee.

Rounsaville said sale of the station in Louisville is subject to the approval of the Federal Communications Commission.

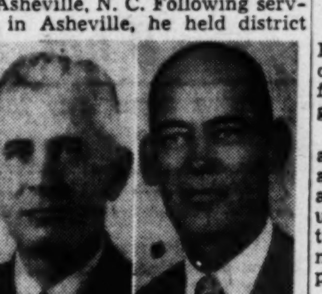

Malone, Stubbs Promoted By Southern Bell T&T

The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company Monday announced the appointment of two vice presidents.

Frank M. Malone, former general commercial manager, was elected public relations vice president, R. R. Stubbs, assistant vice president in the financial department, was elected vice president in charge of revenue requirements They will assume their new positions immediately.

Malone's telephone career began 23 years ago in the traffic department in Atlanta. After assignments in both local and long distance traffic, he was transferred to the business office in 1938. Later he was appointed Atlanta public office manager. In 1939, he was named manager of three of the city's central office areas.

Malone served in this capacity until June, 1941, when he was advanced to the district managership at Asheville, N. C. Following service in Asheville, he held district managerships at Jackson, Miss., and at Atlanta. In 1945 he was appointed Alabama manager, with headquarters in Birmingham.

F. M. Malone R. R. Stubbs

MOVED FROM ALABAMA

In this capacity, he directed public relations activities and commercial operations in the state of Alabama. In 1950, he was advanced to the position of general commercial manager, with headquarters in Atlanta, and again was closely identified with the direction of public relations. After serving in this position, he was appointed assistant vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, with offices in New York. From this post he was elected vice-president of Southern Bell.

Malone is a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute. He is active in alumni affairs of that institution, having served as national president of the Alumni Association.

Stubbs, the new vice-president in charge of revenue requirements, is widely known in business and financial circles throughout the Southeast.

MISSISSIPPI NATIVE

A native of Mississippi, Stubbs' telephone career likewise began 23 years ago. He joined Southern Bell in the Mississippi accounting department and after service in that state and Alabama, he was transferred to Atlanta on the staff of the auditor of disbursements. In 1935, he was appointed assistant to the chief accountant and later was transferred to Jacksonville where he served as auditor of disbursements for the Florida division.

Stubbs was advanced to the position of Florida auditor in 1939, having direction of accounting activities for the entire state. After outstanding service in that position, he was appointed general accountant on the staff of the comptroller in Atlanta in 1944. Two years later, he was advanced to assistant vice-president in the financial department.

Stubbs is a graduate of Mississippi College.

Southern Co. Sets Usual Dividend

The Southern Company declared its regular quarterly dividend of 20 cents per share on the common stock Monday.

E. A. Yates, chairman of the company's board of directors, said the dividend will be payable September 6 to stockholders of record at the close of business on August 6, 1951.

Action was taken at a board meeting in Atlanta.

OPS Okays Price Hikes For Clothes

WASHINGTON, July 23—(INS). Higher prices for clothing, shoes, cotton textiles, wool yarns, and fabrics of other manufactured goods were authorized Monday.

The Office of Price Stabilization amended its June 30 freeze and authorized a new pricing system affecting more than 200,000 manufacturers, who are now permitted to add increased labor and material costs to their pre-Korea prices.

New prices will be computed under six general manufacturing regulations, All were to have gone into effect earlier, but were suspended because of the Congressional ban on price rollbacks during the 31-day extension of the economic controls law.

Cotton Futures Closed Mixed

NEW YORK, July 23—(AP)—Cotton futures were easy Monday in slow dealings.

Favorable crop weather, coupled with a stalemate in cotton textiles, and a little better slant in the Korean news encouraged commission house and New Orleans selling.

Offerings were absorbed through scaledown trade buying and short covering. Traders were generally inclined to await announcement of the mid-July cotton parity this Friday, with the first government estimate on the 1951 cotton crop coming up Aug. 8. There was some question in traders minds whether the July parity will advance compared with the June figure. The loan on the 1951 cotton crop will be based on the mid-July parity.

China was in the market for 5,500 bales of cotton, with offers due on July 25.

A moderate increase in trade buying and short covering brought a mild rally in cotton futures towards the close with the market moving into new high ground for the day.

Futures closed 25 cents a bale lower to 25 cents higher than the previous close.

Salesmen's Role Cited to Rotary

The nation's economy still needs good salesmen and will contine to need them for many years, William H. Gove, sales development manager of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., told the Atlanta Rotary Club Monday.

He added that all successful salesmen had these three qualities in common; the desire to serve, the ability to tell a good story, and the power to suggest.

Grains Regain Some Losses

CHICAGO, July 23—(AP)—Wheat prices sank on the Board of Trade Monday as 715 cars arrived here, more than at any other market.

During the early dealings other cereals were off with wheat, although not to as great an extent. Late in the day a buying movement got underway in rye, lifting it several cents above the previous close, and feed grains recovered most of their early losses.

Hedging pressure was the main reason for the slump in wheat, brokers said. There was nothing heard of any export business in wheat or other grains.

Wheat closed 1⅞-2¼ lower, September $2.32¾-⅞; corn ⅛ lower to 1¼ higher, September $1.72⅜-½; oats ½-⅞ lower, September 76⅜-¼; rye (new style) 1¾-3¼ higher, September $1.68¾-1.69; soybeans unchanged to 1¼ lower, September $2.79¼-2.78¾, and lard 5 cents lower to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $15.40.

Crackdown Slated On Pay Ceilings

WASHINGTON, July 23—(INS). Chairman George W. Taylor said Monday the Wage Stabilization Board will investigate "several thousand" complaints of pay ceiling violations and intends to crack down on "wilful violators."

Taylor indicated criminal prosecutions will be reserved for "flagrant cases" that would upset the stabilization program. He said the usual penalty will be disallowance of varying percentages of illegal pay raises for income tax deductions and for compensation under Government defense contracts.

Another Concern Moving to South

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 23—(AP)—The Lawrence Tribune said Monday that American Woolen Company is removing textile machinery from the world's largest woolen mill here—presumably for shipment to another mill in North Carolina.

The Tribune's story said:

"Considerable textile machinery is being removed from the wool worsted mill here, it was learned today, and it is presumably being shipped to the company's recently acquired plant near Raleigh, North Carolina."

Trading was fairly good during Sunday and rather light Monday morning on the Atlanta fruit and vegetable market according to the Production and Marketing Administration.

Few Florida oranges were 3.50-4.00, mostly 3.75 per box and limited supplies of grapefruit at 2.65-2.75 per box. Georgia bushel baskets of Elberta peaches moved at 3.50-3.75 on U. S. No. 1 two inches and up with bulk stock from 75 cents to 2.00 on poor to ordinary with some better quality and size higher. Georgia cantaloupes brought 1.50-2.00, mostly 1.75 per bushel with some from Carolinas also 1.50-2.00 per bushel. Georgia watermelons of various varieties ranged mostly 25c to 75c according to size and quality.

Cabbage jobbed 1.50-2.00, best mostly 1.75 to 2.00 per bag and green corn was unchanged and in lighter volume at 35-50c per dozen ears; sacked from 2.25 to 2.75 for bags of five dozen ears. Tendergreen and other round green beans, also pole beans from Georgia and North Carolina jobbed mostly from 1.00 to 2.00 on fair to fancy quality. Georgia butterbeans were easier at 2.00-2.50 per bushel and field peas sold mostly on Sunday at 1.25-1.75 per bushel. Yellow crookneck squash jobbed 2.50-3.00, few fancy high as 4.00 and large and poorer 1.50-2.25.

Cobbler potatoes from Eastern States jobbed 2.50-2.75 on U. S. No. 1 quality in hundred pound bags. Okra advanced to 4.50-5.00 bushel and some large around 3.00; tomatooes were steady as peck baskets ranged 50c to 2.50, mostly 1.25-1.50 and half bushels mostly 1.50-2.00. Few collards sold early for 1.75-2.00 per dozen and turnip greens cleaned up early with too few to quote. First Georgia pears of season were too few sales to quote.

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK, —(AP)—World and domestic sugar futures eased today on light liquidation. Traders awaited further developments in Korea. Quiet conditions in raws and slow demand for refined created added caution in the futures markets.

Washed by Flood—SOLDIERS' GROVE, Wis., July 23—These autos and truck were swept by a flash flood from a parking lot a block away, came to rest in a deep sump after crest of the storm's heavy runoff had passed. Upstream, at a farm house six persons perished when waters swept away the dwelling. The vehicles came to rest near the home of Louis Salmon, left. Damage was heavy in the area.

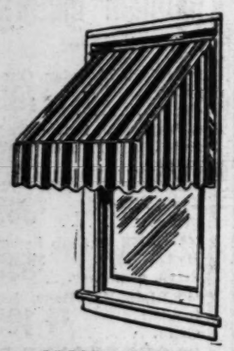

Searching for Kin—RENO, Nev., July 23—John N. Boyer, who says he is 104 years old and a veteran of the War Between the States, is here searching for a great-great-grandson, believed in this area. He is shown in a local hospital.

Chloroformed?—VIENNA, July 23 Vienna police are probing a claim that Ljuba Welitsch, soprano star of Austrian operas, had been chloroformed while sleeping. The red-haired star is shown here as she sang a "Salome."

On Trial—SAN FRANCISCO, July 23—Dick Contino, 21, accordion artist, right, consults attorney James T. Davis during trial in federal court on charges of refusing to submit to induction in the army. A $4,000-a-week star, he could be sentenced to jail and fined $10,000.

2 Are Fined, 1 Held Over In Molestings

One man was bound over to Fulton Criminal Court Monday on molesting charges heard before Recorder A. W. Callaway, and two other men were given fines.

A fourth man's case was continued until July 31.

George Slover, 25-year-old Forest Park father, was bound over to the criminal court under $200 bond on charges of molesting another man's wife near Piedmont Park. Slover denied the charge.

A man listed as Herman E. Addison, 37, of 521 Angier Ave., N. E., was fined $53 for allegedly moving about among minor children in a neighborhood theater. And Owen Power, 60-year-old Cullman, Ala., man was fined $103 by Recorder Callaway for making indecent proposals to a 10-year-old girl on White Ave.

A case booked against C. L. Pratt, 56, of 861 Sill Ave., S. W., was postponed until next week when two teen-age boys who gave statements to Dets. J. E. Sikes and R. A. Boone were not in court to testify.

Man Dies in Jail; Autopsy Ordered

An autopsy Monday showed Clyde William Bailey, 18, of Route 1, Cattletsberg, Ky., who was found dead in a fourth floor cell at city jail, died of natural causes.

Bailey, arrested Saturday for drunkenness at a North Avenue drive-in, was taken to Grady Hospital, then taken to jail. He was found dead on his cot at 5:30 a. m. Monday.

Bridegroom-to-Be Shot in Foot At Cobb Pre-Nuptial Celebration

A pre-nuptial celebration in rural Cobb County Monday led to the accidental shotgunning of the bridegroom-to-be by his bride's grandfather in a tussle over "who was going to shoot into the vineyard," police said.

Police were holding W. H. Burns, 73, for assault with a deadly weapon and his prospective grandson-in-law, Carl Adams, 23, was in "fair condition" at Kennestone Hospital in Marietta with gunshot wounds of the feet.

Police said Adams was to wed 20-year-old Elizabeth Adams Tuesday and the family "was apparently celebrating."

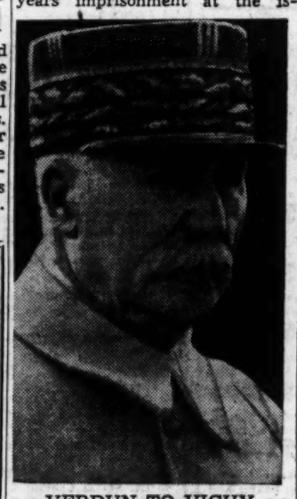

The Elder Burns said he fetched his gun when he saw "something moving around my prize vineyard," officers reported.

Police said Adams told them he asked to shoot at whatever it was and the two argued, then tussled. The shotgun went off and the wedding, according to the family, has been postponed "for a time."

Hero, Traitor of France, Marshal Petain Dies

ILE D'YEU, France, July 23—(UP)—Henri Philippe Petain, 95, France's national hero in World War I and its "Traitor of Vichy" in World War II, died in exile Monday on this bleak Atlantic island, where he will be buried under a tombstone marked "no profession."

The old soldier and ex-marshal of France died Monday morning in a century-old stone house which had become his hospital almost two months ago after six years imprisonment at the island's grim Pierre Levee Prison.

VERDUN TO VICHY
Marshal Petain

He will be buried here Wednesday in his carefully-preserved marshal's uniform, on which will be pinned France's highest honor, the Medaille Militaire. But officials announced he would carry to the grave the disgrace of his life sentence for World War II collaboration with the Nazis.

Christian Lobut, Government Prefect for the Vendee Department, said the headstone on the grave of the "hero of Verdun" would read:

"Henri Philippe Petain—No Profession."

Petain's attorneys, who until the last moment had fought for a retrial of his 1945 treason sentence, pleaded for permission to bury the ex-marshal among his soldiers at the Douaumont Citadel at Verdun. It was there that his heroic slogan, "They Shall Not Pass" won him France's greatest victory of World War I.

Congress Passes Gold Star Bill

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—Congress Monday completed action on a bill to provide gold star buttons for the widows and parents of those losing their lives in World War I and the Korean fighting.

Senate passage sent the measure to President Truman.

The legislation broadens an act which now authorizes gold star lapel buttons for widows, parents and next of kin of those who lost their lives in World War II.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Memphis Reports Graham Offerings

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 23—(AP). Offerings during evangelist Billy Graham's Memphis campaign totaled $58,124, an audit disclosed Monday.

Howard L. Moore, Memphis banker and treasurer of the campaign, said the total income was $69,940 and total expenses $64,679, leaving a surplus of $5,261. Profits from the sale of song books and lumber used for seating made up the difference between the offerings and the total income, Moore added.

The $58,124 did not include three "love" offerings for the evangelist, Moore said, which won't be made public on the request of Graham. The revival ran for more than a month here, ending June 20.
